Estes Arrested On 'Fix' Charges

Indictment Also Names Chemical Firm President

INDICTED — Maynard Wheeler (above), president of Commercial Solvents Corp., of New York, was indicted along with Texas financier Billie Sol Estes yesterday on charges of conspiracy to fix the price of chemical fertilizer. Police in New York said Wheeler had agreed to surrender Monday. Estes was arrested and was released in $10,000 bond. (AP Photofax)

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Billie Sol Estes and a businessman who was co-founder of the depression-era Townsend Plan surrendered to the sheriff Friday and were arrested on grand jury indictments that also named the president of Commercial Solvents Chemical Co. in New York.

Police in New York City said that Maynard G. Wheeler, president of Commercial Solvents, had agreed to surrender on Monday. The arrangement was made with Wheeler's attorney, Whitman Knapp, who said that Wheeler was out of the state.

Knapp told detectives that Wheeler had been prepared to surrender earlier Friday but left the state when there was a delay in his arrest.

Wheeler earlier had been in his New York offices apparently waiting for police to arrest him. When legal technicalities between Amarillo and New York authorities delayed the arrest, he left.

Charged On Four Counts

Wheeler and Estes both were charged on two counts of conspiracy to fix the price of chemical fertilizer and two counts charging restraint of trade.

Wheeler issued a statement earlier in New York:

"I have never conspired with anyone either to fix prices or to control markets. The charges brought against me in the present Texas indictment are without foundation, and this will be proved without question in due course.

"The accusations against me apparently were based on testimony given at the so-called courts of inquiry, held in Texas, at which the attorney general selected the evidence which was introduced and we were not permitted to cross-examine the witnesses or to submit rebuttal evidence in our behalf.

Estes, Clements Post Bond

"We will await disposition of these charges on their merits under proper judicial supervision, where we will be offered a fair opportunity to defend our reputation against these unwarranted attacks."

Estes and R. E. Clements were freed in $10,000 bond apiece after being booked at the Potter County courthouse here.

Clements surrendered himself first. Estes arrived several hours later, posted his bond and went in a private plane to Abilene, Tex., where his brother lives.

Algiers Gives Big Welcome To Ben Bella

Shots Fired In Air In Traditional Arab Greeting To Leader

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Algerians hoisted flags, screamed praise and fired rifles into the air Friday in a hysterical welcome to Ahmed Ben Bella, leftist victor in a month-long struggle for power.

"Ya hya (long live) Ben Bella," they shouted as the dissident deputy premier arrived at the capital in triumph from Oran, his Western headquarters, aboard a chartered French DC3 airliner.

The man who successfully defied the central provisional government was lifted on the shoulders of joyous Algerians and carried through a side gate into the ornate prefecture — administration building — overlooking the waterfront. Unruly greeters had blocked the main entrance.

Premier Ben Khedda Ignored

A throng estimated at 20,000 massed on the waterfront boulevard and thythmically roared Ben Bella's name. A forest of green and white flags rose over their heads.

No one paid attention to Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and other members of his regime who greeted Ben Bella in the prefecture.

Shots were fired into the air within the city in the traditional Arab welcome to a heroic leader.

Other shots were fired into the air by Algerian guerrillas in warning as newly formed Moslem police units struggled helplessly with the crowds. Finally an appeal was made to French police officers to help.

Dozens of men and women fainted in the sizzling heat.

Diplomats Unable To Get Close

Backed by Algeria's 45,000-man regular army and with the reluctant consent of moderate rivals, Ben Bella is to take a guiding hand now in the destinies of this new nation through a seven-man Political Bureau he dominates. Two men of this bureau arrived with him.

The crowds that surged to greet Ben Bella, 45, on the landing of his plane were so closely packed that assembled diplomats never got close to the tall, former French army sergeant. He vows, in Marxist phrases, a sweeping social revolution of this former French territory.

Soviet and other Communist envoys had been the first to be invited to the airport by Ben Bella's aides. Then invitations were extended to Western diplomats.

Airline Defies British Order To Fly Soblen

Refusal Dictated By Tel Aviv; New Litigation Looms

LONDON (AP) — The Israel airline, El Al, defied Friday night a British order to fly Dr. Robert A. Soblen to the United States and attorneys for the fugitive spy began another effort to help him escape a life sentence in an American prison.

The British Home Office insisted that El Al must fly Soblen—but abandoned its attempts to get him out of this country Friday night.

El Al's refusal—on Israeli government orders — opened avenues of still further litigation in a case that has proved one of the most complicated of its kind in legal history.

Ticket May Be Transferred

"We have directed El Al to make arrangements to have Dr. Soblen taken to America as soon as possible. We are in fact discussing the matter with El Al and until we know the outcome we will not know when he is going," the Home Office said.

"It is clear that he will not be going this evening."

The wording of the statement indicated the Home Office was trying to get El Al to place Soblen on a flight by some other airline.

An El Al spokesman refused comment on the possibility that Soblen's ticket for the United States might be transferred to another airline.

Pan American World Airways said Thursday it had been approached about taking Soblen across the Atlantic.

Soblen's attorneys conceded they could not block the Israeli airline from transferring his ticket to another airline. But they said a British government order transferring him would amount to deportation and they would challenge such an order in courts.

Ben-Gurion Appeals To Britain

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's government appealed directly to Britain to be relieved of the responsibility of transporting the 61-year-old Jewish psychiatrist, whose case has aroused a political controversy in Israel.

Soblen maneuvered his way off a New York-bound airliner by slashing his wrists and stomach in a fake sucide try just before the plane touched down at London for refueling July 1. He was taken off the plane and rushed to a hospital.

Soblen made his dash for freedom June 26 when he skipped $100,000 bail in New York on the eve of being sent to federal prison for life for serving as a wartime spy for the Soviet Union.

Kennedy Plans South Dakota, California Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will turn a switch starting power from Oahe Dam in South Dakota on Aug. 17 and the next day he'll take part in ground breaking ceremonies for the San Luis irrigation system in California.

The White House, announcing the plans Friday described the trip as nonpolitical and said the President is likely to stop at other places, either going or coming.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said he does not know now whether George McGovern, Democratic candidate for U.S. senator from South Dakota and a onetime House member, will take part in the ceremony at the dam. McGovern resigned recently as director of the President's Food for Peace program to run for the Senate.

Salinger said Kennedy expects to leave Washington the morning of Aug. 17 but that it has not been decided where he will spend that night or the next. No hour has been set for the switch-turning at the dam, 10 miles from Pierre, S.D. That Missouri River project will send electricity through transmission lines to states in the Upper Midwest.

The groundbreaking for the San Luis project will take place at noon, local time, near Los Banos, Calif., the district now represented by a Democrat, Rep. B. F. Sisk. San Luis will provide a supplemental water supply for 400,000 acres in California.

Kennedy will spend the weekend of Aug. 10 in Maine. He'll attend a charity event at the Brunswick Naval Air Station on Friday night before going on to the John's Island home of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney off the southern coast of Maine for the remainder of the week. Salinger said Tunney would be away and would turn the house over to the President for the weekend.

Quadruplets Born

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Quadruplets, two boys and two girls, were born Friday to Mrs. A. J. Becker, wife of a Vancouver lawyer, and were reported doing well.

Bridge Collapse Kills Five Men

RAPID CITY, S.C. (UPI)—An interstate highway bridge under construction collapsed Friday and five men died in the avalanche of tons of concrete, steel and mortar.

One man was standing on the bridge when three huge pillars gave way. He tumbled to his death. Four others were buried and killed by the hunks of concrete and twisted steel.

The bridge was under construction 10 miles east of Rapid City. Three sections of the unopened Interstate 90 span cross the main access road to Ellsworth Air Force Base.

The cause of the pillar failure was not learned immediately. The entire upper echelon of the state Highway Department left the state capital at Pierre and flew to the scene to investigate.

RFK Declares Satellite Bill Protects Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Friday he fought against turning the proposed communications satellite corporation over to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and other big firms.

He said he is satisfied that the present plan, providing for 50-50 ownership by the public and the communications industry, will protect both the government's interests and the public's.

The President's brother made an abbreviated appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when it opened hearings on a bill that ran up against a Senate filibuster last week.

"I don't think this corporation is being turned over to the AT&T," Kennedy said. "I fought against the bill that was promoted by others."

He said that in various interdepartmental meetings the Federal Communications Commission and other groups had argued that the government should consider the experience and knowledge of established carriers like AT&T, and the new corporation should avail itself of all this knowledge.

In the beginning, he said, FCC Chairman Newton N. Minow and others "would have turned the corporation too far over to the AT&T and other carriers and we fought that."

"We received 90 per cent of what we struggled for in the compromise bill," he said, adding, "I'm perfectly satisfied it will protect the public interest."

Opponents of the private ownership plan contend it would amount to a giveaway of taxpayer-finance research. They insist the government should own and operate this country's part of the proposed globe-girdling network of communications satellites.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the leaders of this group, told Kennedy he understood him to say that hen the administration first began work on the bill that Justice Department favored government ownership and control.

Kennedy said that was incorrect. He said he had proposed general public, not government ownership, and the first draft provided for 100 per cent public ownership, with government controls.

The present measure, which has been passed by the House, calls for 50 per cent ownership by the public and 50 per cent by the carriers.

11 Homes Destroyed In Kansas City Blast

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A giant gas main exploded in a peaceful residential area Friday, belching flames over a two-block area and for an interval threatening a wider portion of the city.

Police said there were no fatalities. Six persons, including two firemen, were treated at hospitals but none was believed in serious condition.

Fire Chief Herbert Hughes, who announced all residents of the area were accounted for approximately three hours after the blast, said 11 houses were destroyed and 11 others heavily damaged.

An initial blast which warned residents of the area possibly prevented a high casualty toll, Hughes said.

The first explosion produced no fire but showered heavy blocks of concrete on the intersection and many residents fled, approximately 10 minutes before the second blast touched off flames which quickly engulfed the neighborhood.

Police ordered evacuation of a five-block area around the center of the explosion because of the danger of additional blasts, escaping gas, and dense smoke.

Hearing Room Hostage Holder Faces Charges

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Elmer Milligan sat glumly in a jail cell Friday, pondering the futility of his wild, 12½-hour lecture to Arizona officials he held at gunpoint in a state office.

The 52 - year - old unemployed pipefitter sought to convince the Arizona Industrial Commission it should resume his disability checks, cut off in March.

He lost the argument Thursday night when detectives Don Rodriquez and Earl Moore disarmed him after waiting eight hours for the appropriate time.

One count of assault with a deadly weapon was filed against Milligan Friday.

There may be other charges, but Deputy County Atty. Grant Laney said police reports of the confusing episode were still too sketchy to act upon.

Laney said the first charge stemmed from statements by Moore and Rodriquez that Milligan held a cocked pistol at the head of Donald J. Morgan, chief attorney for the commission.

This apparently was how Milligan kept eight prisoners under control in Thursday's long ordeal. None of the prisoners was harmed.

Milligan became eligible for compensation when he injured his back working on Glen Canyon Dam on the Colorado River in northern Arizona.

Lawrence G. Huerta, one of three state industrial commissioners, said Friday he supposed the commission would have to give Milligan another hearing if requested to do so.

Filipino Leader Gives Stonehill Walking Papers

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal on Friday ordered immediate deportation of American multimillionaire businessman Harry Stonehill and his associate Robert Brooks, also an American, as undesirable aliens.

But there was doubt Stonehill could be deported at once since the House of Representatives claims custody. Stonehill has been cited for contempt by a House committee for his refusal to answer qustions on alleged payroll listings of about 100 government personnel.

The sergeant-at-arms said he would not surrender Stonehill to deportation authorities, even with presidential orders. He said he would release Stonehill only on orders of the House speaker or committee chairman.

The president, on recommendation of the Deportation Board, said Stonehill and Brooks were found to be a menace to security of the country.

Macapagal said Stonehill and Brooks will be deported to the United States. State Department officials in Washington said they are free to enter the United States if they want to.

Both Americans were found guilty—after a trial lasting five months—of corrupting public officials, violating Philippine banking laws, engaging in economic sabotage and tax evasion.

Ancient Tombs Found

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Archeological teams have uncovered seven ancient Roman tombs near here. Experts say they date from the 1st century A.D. and are in fairly good condition.

Drive On Drug Nears Windup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported Friday the virtual completion of its drive to insure that the drug thalidomide is not administered to pregnant women in this country.

Thalidomide, a German-developed sleeping pill, is blamed for thousands of severe deformities in babies born to women who took the medicine in early stages of pregnancy. Most of them were in West Germany.

Thalidomide never was approved for general prescription sale in the Untied States but it was distributed to 1,231 physicians for possible experimental use.

The Food and Drug Administration announced Friday it has interviewed all but 158 of these doctors. Of those interviewed, the agency said, 67 had some of the drug on hand and the supplies were either destroyed or impounded.

The 158 not yet interviewed were on vacation or had moved. A further report will be issued later.

E. German Spud Price Doubled

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany Friday more than doubled the price of the basic item in its citizens' diet — potatoes—amid Western reports of growing unrest as the anniversary of the Communist wall approached.

A few weeks after the Soviet Union increased meat and dairy products prices by as much as one-third, the East German Communists announced that new potatoes would cost about 5 cents a pound, compared to 2.25 cents a pound last year.

Plagued by shortages on its collective farms, the regime said it was raising prices to encourage production.

Airliner Found; All Aboard Safe

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Area Control Office said Saturday it was told that rescue teams have found a missing Nepali airliner in the Himalayan foothills of southwest Nepal near the Indian border.

The control office said the 10 persons aboard, including two American aid officials, were reported safe.

Deaths Spur FDA Probe Of Birth Control Drug

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said Friday it is investigating the birth control pill Enovid to see if it may have been involved in the deaths of six women.

The FDA said there had been 28 cases in which women who had taken the contraceptive pill developed thrombophlebitis — blood clot. Six of them died.

The FDA said that after the first two deaths, which occurred in Los Angeles last December, it investigated the drug and decided it could not establish any connection between the drug and the fatal blood clots.

But since then, it said, there have been about 26 more cases, including four more deaths, in women taking Enovid. These cases prompted the new investigation.

The agency cautioned that fatal blood clots can be caused by a variety of factors unrelated to any drug. Its announcement of an investigation does not affect commercial sale of Enovid.

British Issue Warning

LONDON (AP)—British medical authorities, still troubled over thalidomide, issued a warning Friday about the use of an oral contraceptive pill.

The British Medical Journal reported four women in Britain developed thrombosis after taking the pill called Conovid and one of them died.

The article said similar cases have come to light in the United States.

Vatican Denounces Abortion Decision

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican radio said Friday human beings even before birth have rights that can never permit abortion.

The radio station emphasized traditional Roman Catholic teaching in discussing the case of Sherri Finkbine, a non-Catholic. She is a Unitarian.

The Arizona television actress unsuccessfully sought court sanction for a planned abortion because she had used a drug that has caused deformed births.

Vatican radio did not mention Mrs. Finkbine by name. Nor did it comment on medical and moral aspects of thalidomide, the drug used in certain tranquilizers taken by pregnant women who later bore deformed children.

Owner Defends Painting House Colors Of Flag

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Alfredo Pereira's house is the talk of the neighborhood.

He painted it red, white and blue—red on the first floor, white on the second and blue on the third.

"A disgrace to the flag," said Duffy Stanislaw, who operates a barbershop next door and is a friend of Pereira. "Those colors are for the flag, not for a house."

A butcher on the street, remarked: "Kind of nice."

What does the man who chose the color scheme have to say?

"Its just that it fills my heart to see the beautiful colors of my country's flag," said Pereira, a Portuguese who became a United States citizen in 1940.

Justice Dept. Probes Sale Of Newspaper

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—U.S. Atty. James B. Brennan said Friday that the Milwaukee Journal's purchase of the Milwaukee Sentinel was under investigation by the antitrust division of the Justice Department.

Brennan said he had been informed investigators were checking to determine whether the purchase, announced July 19, violated in particular Section 7 of the Clayton Act, which prohibits mergers and sales.

The hearings will be held in November.

Earthquake Jolts Colombian Cities

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Earth tremors described as moderate to strong were recorded Friday in Colombia, where 40 persons were killed by a quake last Sunday, and in some of its Latin-American neighbor countries.

The western Colombian cities of Manizales and Pereira were jolted at 1 a.m. Many residents fled from their homes into the streets. Others slept right through it.

Wreckage Of Navy Patrol Plane Spotted

MANILA (UPI)—The wreckage of a U.S. Navy patrol plane missing since Wednesday night was sighted Friday on a mountain about 80 miles north of here, the Navy said. But there was no immediate announcement regarding possible survivors.

A Navy spokesman said the wreckage of the missing Marlin P5M seaplane was "positively identified" by two American military search planes at about the 2,000-foot level of a mountain in northern Luzon.

Dread 'Black Death' Fatal To Germ War Scientist

LONDON (AP) —The disease that killed a British germ war scientist was identified Friday night as pneumonic plague—the dread Black Death which ravaged Europe in the Middle Ages—and health authorities stood guard to prevent it sweeping across southern England.

Precautions were rushed into effect after the War Office announced the result of an autopsy on George A. Bacon, 44, research officer at Britain's principal germ warfare establishment.

About 40 persons known to have had recent contact with Bacon were kept under rigid surveillance and dosed with antibiotic drugs.

Bacon was reported working on pneumonic and bubonic plague at the microbiological research establishment at Porton Downs, situated in an isolated area of Salisbury Plain. He was stricken last Sunday.

The War Office statement said a board of inquiry has been convened.

The principal medical officer for research and development establishments, Dr. A. Critchley, was sent to Porton Downs to investigate the circumstances of Bacon's death.

Experiments in lethal diseases have been going on at Porton Downs for 17 years. Techniques have been worked out for combating hundreds of killer infections. A few ounces of some of the germs under experiment would be enough to wipe out whole populations.

Bacon, married with two children, had worked there 10 years.

Vogel May Oppose Clement In November

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Frank G. Clement staged a political comeback to win his third Democratic nomination for governor, but it appeared Friday he might face opposition in the November elections.

Democratic nomination in Tennessee usually means election in November, but indications Friday were that the youthful two-time governor might be opposed by Gen. Herbert Vogel, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Vogel, a life-long Republican was quoted as saying he will "seriously consider" running in November.

An initial blast which warned residents of the area possibly prevented a high casualty toll, Hughes said.

The first explosion produced no fire but showered heavy blocks of concrete on the intersection and many residents fled, approximately 10 minutes before the second blast touched off flames which quickly engulfed the neighborhood.

Police ordered evacuation of a five-block area around the center of the explosion because of the danger of additional blasts, escaping gas, and dense smoke.

Hearing Room Hostage Holder Faces Charges

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Charles Elmer Milligan sat glumly in a jail cell Friday, pondering the futility of his wild, 12½-hour lecture to Arizona officials he held at gunpoint in a state office.

The 52 - year - old unemployed pipefitter sought to convince the Arizona Industrial Commission it should resume his disability checks, cut off in March.

He lost the argument Thursday night when detectives Don Rodriquez and Earl Moore disarmed him after waiting eight hours for the appropriate time.

One count of assault with a deadly weapon was filed against Milligan Friday.

There may be other charges, but Deputy County Atty. Grant Laney said police reports of the confusing episode were still too sketchy to act upon.

Laney said the first charge stemmed from statements by Moore and Rodriquez that Milligan held a cocked pistol at the head of Donald J. Morgan, chief attorney for the commission.

This apparently was how Milligan kept eight prisoners under control in Thursday's long ordeal. None of the prisoners was harmed.

Milligan became eligible for compensation when he injured his back working on Glen Canyon Dam on the Colorado River in northern Arizona.

Lawrence G. Huerta, one of three state industrial commissioners, said Friday he supposed the commission would have to give Milligan another hearing if requested to do so.

Filipino Leader Gives Stonehill Walking Papers

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal on Friday ordered immediate deportation of American multimillionaire businessman Harry Stonehill and his associate Robert Brooks, also an American, as undesirable aliens.

But there was doubt Stonehill could be deported at once since the House of Representatives claims custody. Stonehill has been cited for contempt by a House committee for his refusal to answer qustions on alleged payroll listings of about 100 government personnel.

The sergeant-at-arms said he would not surrender Stonehill to deportation authorities, even with presidential orders. He said he would release Stonehill only on orders of the House speaker or committee chairman.

The president, on recommendation of the Deportation Board, said Stonehill and Brooks were found to be a menace to security of the country.

Macapagal said Stonehill and Brooks will be deported to the United States. State Department officials in Washington said they are free to enter the United States if they want to.

Both Americans were found guilty—after a trial lasting five months—of corrupting public officials, violating Philippine banking laws, engaging in economic sabotage and tax evasion.

Ancient Tombs Found

BOLZANO, Italy (AP)—Archeological teams have uncovered seven ancient Roman tombs near here. Experts say they date from the 1st century A.D. and are in fairly good condition.

Drive On Drug Nears Windup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported Friday the virtual completion of its drive to insure that the drug thalidomide is not administered to pregnant women in this country.

Thalidomide, a German-developed sleeping pill, is blamed for thousands of severe deformities in babies born to women who took the medicine in early stages of pregnancy. Most of them were in West Germany.

Thalidomide never was approved for general prescription sale in the Untied States but it was distributed to 1,231 physicians for possible experimental use.

The Food and Drug Administration announced Friday it has interviewed all but 158 of these doctors. Of those interviewed, the agency said, 67 had some of the drug on hand and the supplies were either destroyed or impounded.

The 158 not yet interviewed were on vacation or had moved. A further report will be issued later.

E. German Spud Price Doubled

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany Friday more than doubled the price of the basic item in its citizens' diet — potatoes—amid Western reports of growing unrest as the anniversary of the Communist wall approached.

A few weeks after the Soviet Union increased meat and dairy products prices by as much as one-third, the East German Communists announced that new potatoes would cost about 5 cents a pound, compared to 2.25 cents a pound last year.

Plagued by shortages on its collective farms, the regime said it was raising prices to encourage production.

Airliner Found; All Aboard Safe

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Area Control Office said Saturday it was told that rescue teams have found a missing Nepali airliner in the Himalayan foothills of southwest Nepal near the Indian border.

The control office said the 10 persons aboard, including two American aid officials, were reported safe.

Bridge Collapse Kills Five Men

RAPID CITY, S.C. (UPI)—An interstate highway bridge under construction collapsed Friday and five men died in the avalanche of tons of concrete, steel and mortar.

One man was standing on the bridge when three huge pillars gave way. He tumbled to his death. Four others were buried and killed by the hunks of concrete and twisted steel.

The bridge was under construction 10 miles east of Rapid City. Three sections of the unopened Interstate 90 span cross the main access road to Ellsworth Air Force Base.

The cause of the pillar failure was not learned immediately. The entire upper echelon of the state Highway Department left the state capital at Pierre and flew to the scene to investigate.

Owner Defends Painting House Colors Of Flag

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Alfredo Pereira's house is the talk of the neighborhood.

He painted it red, white and blue—red on the first floor, white on the second and blue on the third.

"A disgrace to the flag," said Duffy Stanislaw, who operates a barbershop next door and is a friend of Pereira. "Those colors are for the flag, not for a house."

A butcher on the street, remarked: "Kind of nice."

What does the man who chose the color scheme have to say?

"Its just that it fills my heart to see the beautiful colors of my country's flag," said Pereira, a Portuguese who became a United States citizen in 1940.

Justice Dept. Probes Sale Of Newspaper

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—U.S. Atty. James B. Brennan said Friday that the Milwaukee Journal's purchase of the Milwaukee Sentinel was under investigation by the antitrust division of the Justice Department.

Brennan said he had been informed investigators were checking to determine whether the purchase, announced July 19, violated in particular Section 7 of the Clayton Act, which prohibits mergers and sales.

The hearings will be held in November.

Wreckage Of Navy Patrol Plane Spotted

MANILA (UPI)—The wreckage of a U.S. Navy patrol plane missing since Wednesday night was sighted Friday on a mountain about 80 miles north of here, the Navy said. But there was no immediate announcement regarding possible survivors.

A Navy spokesman said the wreckage of the missing Marlin P5M seaplane was "positively identified" by two American military search planes at about the 2,000-foot level of a mountain in northern Luzon.

Deaths Spur FDA Probe Of Birth Control Drug

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said Friday it is investigating the birth control pill Enovid to see if it may have been involved in the deaths of six women.

The FDA said there had been 28 cases in which women who had taken the contraceptive pill developed thrombophlebitis — blood clot. Six of them died.

The FDA said that after the first two deaths, which occurred in Los Angeles last December, it investigated the drug and decided it could not establish any connection between the drug and the fatal blood clots.

But since then, it said, there have been about 26 more cases, including four more deaths, in women taking Enovid. These cases prompted the new investigation.

The agency cautioned that fatal blood clots can be caused by a variety of factors unrelated to any drug. Its announcement of an investigation does not affect commercial sale of Enovid.

British Issue Warning

LONDON (AP)—British medical authorities, still troubled over thalidomide, issued a warning Friday about the use of an oral contraceptive pill.

The British Medical Journal reported four women in Britain developed thrombosis after taking the pill called Conovid and one of them died.

The article said similar cases have come to light in the United States.

Vatican Denounces Abortion Decision

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican radio said Friday human beings even before birth have rights that can never permit abortion.

The radio station emphasized traditional Roman Catholic teaching in discussing the case of Sherri Finkbine, a non-Catholic. She is a Unitarian.

The Arizona television actress unsuccessfully sought court sanction for a planned abortion because she had used a drug that has caused deformed births.

Vatican radio did not mention Mrs. Finkbine by name. Nor did it comment on medical and moral aspects of thalidomide, the drug used in certain tranquilizers taken by pregnant women who later bore deformed children.

The western Colombian cities of Manizales and Pereira were jolted at 1 a.m. Many residents fled from their homes into the streets. Others slept right through it.

Dread 'Black Death' Fatal To Germ War Scientist

LONDON (AP) —The disease that killed a British germ war scientist was identified Friday night as pneumonic plague—the dread Black Death which ravaged Europe in the Middle Ages—and health authorities stood guard to prevent it sweeping across southern England.

Precautions were rushed into effect after the War Office announced the result of an autopsy on George A. Bacon, 44, research officer at Britain's principal germ warfare establishment.

About 40 persons known to have had recent contact with Bacon were kept under rigid surveillance and dosed with antibiotic drugs.

Bacon was reported working on pneumonic and bubonic plague at the microbiological research establishment at Porton Downs, situated in an isolated area of Salisbury Plain. He was stricken last Sunday.

The War Office statement said a board of inquiry has been convened.

The principal medical officer for research and development establishments, Dr. A. Critchley, was sent to Porton Downs to investigate the circumstances of Bacon's death.

Experiments in lethal diseases have been going on at Porton Downs for 17 years. Techniques have been worked out for combating hundreds of killer infections. A few ounces of some of the germs under experiment would be enough to wipe out whole populations.

Bacon, married with two children, had worked there 10 years.

Vogel May Oppose Clement In November

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Frank G. Clement staged a political comeback to win his third Democratic nomination for governor, but it appeared Friday he might face opposition in the November elections.

Democratic nomination in Tennessee usually means election in November, but indications Friday were that the youthful two-time governor might be opposed by Gen. Herbert Vogel, former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Vogel, a life-long Republican was quoted as saying he will "seriously consider" running in November.

Receiver Named For S&L Firm

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A Montgomery County Circuit Court judge, Ralph G. Shure, ordered First General Savings & Loan Association, Bethesda, into receivership Friday.

Shure appointed Tracy Coleman, Silver Spring, as receiver, and Joe M. Kyle, Silver Spring attorney and a member of the County Council, to assist him.

The firm did not contest the receivership, although Shure had scheduled a hearing on the action that he indicated Thursday he would take when he froze the firm's assets.

Shure ordered the assets frozen after the state said the firm's liabilities exceeded assets and did not have enough cash on hand to meet withdrawal requests.

The only persons to appear at the scheduled hearing were Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert S. Bourbon, and a Protestant minister and his wife from Pittsburgh who said they had $11,745 invested in the firm.

Earlier this week, Shure placed Maryland Thrift Savings & Loan Association of Silver Spring in receivership and froze the assets of Maryland Financial Savings & Loan Co., Kensington.

The Pittsburgh couple, who declined to identify themselves, said the money they deposited in First General came from the sale of their home.

JFK Won't Attend Antietam Event

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy does not plan to attend Maryland's Civil War Centennial celebration, the White House said Friday.

Kennedy as well as former president Dwight Eisenhower and Harry Truman had been invited to attend the commemoration.

The centennial commission has planned re-enactment of the Battle of Antietam near Sharpsburg Sept. 15-16 and a memorial service Sept. 17 on the battlefield, site of the bloodiest one-day battle of the Civil War.

No answer has yet been received from either Eisenhower or Truman.

Md. Police Head Denies Racial Discrimination

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP) — The reason there aren't more Negro state troopers, says State Police Superintendent Carey Jarman, is that in recent years Negro applicants have not met the agency's standards.

Jarman said Friday there was no discrimination against Negroes who apply for careers as troopers. "We would be delighted to have more (Negro troopers) just like the one we have now . . . a very capable fellow," the superintendent said.

The discrimination issue was raised Thursday during a meeting of the Maryland Advisory Committee to the United States Civil Rights Commission.

Russell L. Davis, state commissioner of personnel, told members of the committee he did not know why there was only one Negro state trooper. The Maryland State Police agency is conspicuous for the absence of Negroes, one committee member said.

"We would like to have more (Negroes)," Jarman said. "There is no reason why they can't apply they're given the same examinations as everyone else.

"The reason why there aren't more Negro troopers is that in recent years none of them has come up to our standards.

"Roughly, of every 100 applicants there are 12 acceptable troopers, no matter what race they belong to."

Jarman said there are 18 Negro employes in the department, including Trooper Milton S. Taylor. The others are employed as automobile mechanics, cooks, food servers and building maintenance men.

Yamin Granted Hearing Of Plea

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin J. Yamin, a former Baltimore police magistrate, won Friday a court review of his claim of judicial error in his conviction seven years ago on charges of arranging a slaying.

The victim, Joseph Aronowitz, who was to have testified against Yamin in a Baltimore robbery attempt, was found dead in a car abandoned in front of a mortuary in Brooklyn, Feb. 15, 1955.

Judge Nathan R. Sobel of Kings County Court set a hearing for Sept. 21 on Yamin's petition.

Yamin's lawyer, Leon Kesner of Brooklyn, based the application on four points. One of them was, that a codefendant, Rosario Lococo, who testified against Yamin after winning a separate trial, had been promised leniency in return for his testimony.

In granting the hearing, Sobel said the argument appeared to have some merit inasmuch as Lococo subsequently had been permitted to plead guilty to conspiracy to commit homicide and received a suspended sentence.

Md. Auto Toll Reaches 312

By The Associated Press

After a little more than seven months State Police have recorded 312 traffic deaths in Maryland, including five recent ones. But the police statistics bureau says the death toll is still far from the 1941 record of 612 deaths.

A Silver Spring man was killed in Calvert County and the other four persons were killed in the Baltimore area, including two children.

Richard William VanHossen, 37, was killed Thursday night when the car he was driving went out of control on Maryland 265 near Wallville.

Mrs. Elizabeth Walker, 50, was killed Thursday and a pregnant woman later lost her child in a collision on a Baltimore street corner. Mrs. Clarice May Woods, 17, was rushed to City Hospitals where her baby was stillborn.

Mrs. Mary Iglehart, 72, Ellicott City, died at St. Agnes Hospital Thursday from injuries received in accident July 10 on U.S. 40 west of Baltimore.

Maurice Henry, 13, and Lynn Macomber, 7, died Thursday from injuries after having been struck by cars in separate accidents in Baltimore.

Swim Suit Home For Six Wrens

BALTIMORE (AP)—For years, Mrs. Luther Heuerman of suburban Delight has been hanging her bathing suit on a plastic hanger off the patio each time she returned from a swim.

Last Saturday, she hung it up to dry as usual. But next morning she found the leg holes closed with twigs and six wrens living inside the suit. The home for two adult and four baby birds half filled the suit.

The Heuermans already have three wren houses, booked solid. Heuerman insists it was a plot by his wife to get a new swim suit — and she has it now.

Improvements Made For Md. State Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP) — Workmen are putting the finishing touches on a new $5,000 farm and garden building for the Maryland State Fair Aug. 27 to Sept. 6.

John Heil, vice president and general manager of the fair, said Friday the cinder-block building measuring 210 by 50 feet would be ready for use next week.

The main exhibition hall at the fair has been painted yellow, new roofs have been put on the livestock and swine buildings, and there is a new Flamingo Room in the race track grandstand which will seat 450 diners.

Fully air-conditioned, the dining room will have closed-circuit television for watching the races. Racing to be held in conjunction with the fair at Timonium's half-mile track opens Aug. 13.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —A special federal court has given the Oklahoma Legislature until March 8, 1963 to reapportion itself on a population basis, giving city residents more voice in government.

Death Puts New Burden On Plucky Lad

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Hathaway, 7, the eyes and ears of his blind and deaf parents since he could walk and talk, carried a new burden Friday on his small shoulders — loss of his mother.

Georgia Hathaway, 43, died Thursday night in Akron General Hospital where she was taken July 22. Her heart, weakened by rheumatic fever, stopped beating.

Clarence, a serious and quiet youngster, was red-eyed from weeping. His father, Harold, 60, patted his son's shoulder as they stood in the hospital corridor.

He then clutched the boy to his chest, stroked his head and said: "Whatever happens I want Clarence to stay with me always."

Father and son had visited the hospital Thursday but did not get to see Mrs. Hathaway because of her poor condition. She had been in and out of the hospital several times this year.

About midnight they returned to the hospital in company of Ronald Harper, police chief at nearby Stow where the Hathaways live. Harper wrote with his finger on Hathaway's palm: "She is dead" and the father told his son.

Aware for some time of her serious condition, Mrs. Hathaway confided to friends she hoped to live until her son grew up.

Despite his age, Clarence is grown up in many ways. He does many of the household chores in the three-room cottage and helps with the shopping.

The Hathaways were married in Kansas after a romance conducted by letters written in Braille. Clarence, who has normal hearing and vision, was born Feb, 17, 1955. His mother insisted she could care for him.

The Hathaways won a legal battle to raise their own son. Their fight attracted national attention.

What will happen to Clarence after his mother is buried Monday afternoon?

Neighbors think the boy will be able to stay with his father.

Death Puts New Burden On Plucky Lad

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Clarence Hathaway, 7, the eyes and ears of his blind and deaf parents since he could walk and talk, carried a new burden Friday on his small shoulders — loss of his mother.

Georgia Hathaway, 43, died Thursday night in Akron General Hospital where she was taken July 22. Her heart, weakened by rheumatic fever, stopped beating.

Clarence, a serious and quiet youngster, was red-eyed from weeping. His father, Harold, 60, patted his son's shoulder as they stood in the hospital corridor.

He then clutched the boy to his chest, stroked his head and said: "Whatever happens I want Clarence to stay with me always."

Father and son had visited the hospital Thursday but did not get to see Mrs. Hathaway because of her poor condition. She had been in and out of the hospital several times this year.

About midnight they returned to the hospital in company of Ronald Harper, police chief at nearby Stow where the Hathaways live. Harper wrote with his finger on Hathaway's palm: "She is dead" and the father told his son.

Aware for some time of her serious condition, Mrs. Hathaway confided to friends she hoped to live until her son grew up.

Despite his age, Clarence is grown up in many ways. He does many of the household chores in the three-room cottage and helps with the shopping.

The Hathaways were married in Kansas after a romance conducted by letters written in Braille. Clarence, who has normal hearing and vision, was born Feb. 17, 1955. His mother insisted she could care for him.

The Hathaways won a legal battle to raise their own son. Their fight attracted national attention.

What will happen to Clarence after his mother is buried Monday afternoon?

Neighbors think the boy will be able to stay with his father.

Suit Is Filed Against Bank, Insurance Firm

A case has been instituted in U. S. District Court in Baltimore by an insurer of a local auto dealer against a Cumberland bank and its insurance firm.

The $42,500 suit stemmed from an accident involving an auto repossessed by the Second National Bank and being handled for sale by McIntyre's Chevrolet under an agreement between the auto firm and the bank.

The Royal Indemnity Company is the liability insurer of McIntyre's, while Aetna Insurance Company is the insurer for the Second National Bank on autos the bank repossesses.

According to the bill of particulars, McIntyre's agreed to purchase any car repossessed by the bank with 90 days of maturity of the earliest unpaid installment.

The dealer had the right to refuse any such auto upon notifying the bank, and the bank had the right to sell under that circumstance.

The dealer also agreed to store repossessed cars free of charge and would deliver the autos upon request of the bank.

The accident arose when on April 21, 1961, a prospective purchaser, David Welker, took out a 1957 model auto repossessed by the bank and became involved in a collision in which a number of people were injured.

According to the bill of particulars, the injured persons sued Royal Indemnity Company and settlements in the amounts of $42,500 were made by Royal in behalf of McIntyre's.

Now, the Royal firm seeks a judgment to declare that the Aetna Insurance Company and the bank are primarily responsible.

County Extends Daylight Time

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday acted to prevent recurrence of a situation affecting the extension of Daylight Saving Time.

Last year the deadline for extension of DST to conform to a similar extension in metropolitan Baltimore and Washington was past when the board realized it had not acted on the matter.

The situation last year was solved when an order was passed which was pre-dated to meet the deadline date.

Daylight Saving Time today was officially extended to Sunday.

Daylight Saving Time yesterday was officially extended to Sunday, October 28.

More than $109 million of coffee and other hot beverages is sold annually via vending machines in the United States.

Democrats Plan To Hold State Rally In Baltimore

Six Allegany County men who are the Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates and William Walsh, state senatorial candidate, for the general election November 6 have been invited to attend the strategy meeting August 18 at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore.

They will be joined by Gov. Tawes and the state-wide ticket comprised of Louis L. Goldstein, for comptroller; Thomas B. Finan, for attorney general; Daniel B. Brewster, for U. S. Senate, and Carlton R. Sickles, for Congressman-at-large.

The big pow-wow has been arranged by Herbert R. O'Conor Jr., Democratic campaign chairman. O'Conor said Sickles suggested the meeting.

The meeting is being devised to supply the 171 Democratic aspirants for General Assembly seats with campaign ammunition and to perfect plans for a door-to-door registration drive in preparation for the November 6 balloting.

O'Conor, in announcing a tentative agenda for the gathering, explained it will be patterned after a series of congressional campaign meetings in Washington under the sponsorship of the Democratic National Committee.

Each candidate will be supplied with a campaign kit, containing among other things, Democratic "fact sheets" on the issues.

Gov. Tawes, who is seeking reelection to a second term, will deliver the keynote address.

Sewer Plan Is Outlined

Emergencies in the city's sewer system erupt occasionally and the Street Department will undertake a program of regular maintenance and cleaning, Commissioner Lucile Roeder said.

The commissioner said a three-man crew will be assigned to the task which will take nine months. The crew will include two machine operators and a bucket operator.

The crew will be set up as soon as job positions can be filled and Mrs. Roeder said she will move that the crew be placed on a fulltime basis. It is felt regular cleaning and maintenance schedules will prevent such problems as popping manhole covers and flooded cellars in times of heavy downpours.

The hundreds of catch basins in the city also will receive regular attention and trapped gravel and debris will be removed.

Mrs. Roeder said she feels that the program will prevent most of the trouble but at the same time she realizes some bad spots will remain even with it. A close watch will be kept on these. Catch basins have been cleaned twice a year. Under present plans, it is hoped to clean them two months in the spring and three months in the fall, or vice versa, Mrs. Roeder said. This means catch basin work will take the time of three men for five months a year.

All catch basins are to be numbered and records kept of those cleaned. Trouble and safety records also will be maintained.

Unless such a program is done right, it is no good, Mrs. Roeder said, adding "We are not interested in how it looks on paper, only results. A system of hit or miss costs money."

The department has started working on a snow removal schedule, holding conferences within the department and inviting opinions from sources such as schools where many individuals will be involved in times of traffic-snarling snowfalls.

As a result of a suggestion made by John R. Mongold, maintenance man in the department, the city will start to standardize all handrails and guard rails. In the past, different types were used in various sections and as it was replacement parts were difficult to obtain. While no whole sale change is planned, Mrs. Roeder said that as rails need replacing, handrails will be 2½ inches in diameter and guard rails will be of the plate style.

The suggestion is deeply appreciated, Mrs. Roeder said, especially since it came from an employe of the department.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Rocking-Horse Way To A Slimmer Diaphragm

Because excess diaphram flesh is too delicate to be beaten or bumped away, your only safe and sure correctives are gentle exercise, improved posture, and scientific corsetry.

If you'll take this exercise daily you'll show progress in several weeks:

Lie flat on your back on the floor. Raise both legs in the air at right angles to your body. Relax your knees but do not bend them and grasp the back of your legs with your hands just above the knee joints.

Now, gently rock your weight forward and backward, like a rocking horse, until you have worked up enough momentum to reach a half-sitting position with both your back and legs off the floor. Hold this position for a count of five and rock again until you are back to starting position. Repeat five times and gradually increase to twenty.

At first you'll feel a terrific pull in the diaphram and abdomen. With practice, this decreases. As it does, try to reduce the number of "rocks" that it takes to achieve the half-sitting position and the speed at which you do them. This will give your muscles a continuously harder workout and you, greater results.

Every moment of every day, walking, standing, or sitting, pull your midriff out of your waistline. Slumping is one of the great causes of diaphram bulge. Pulling up helps to prevent and to cure the problem.

Your girdles and bras may need correction, too. Is the girdle cut so low or the bras so high and either so tight that flesh is squeezed from other areas into the middle region? If so, your corsetry is undoing much of your other efforts. Consult a corsetiere without delay. A new longline girdle and bra or a corselet is indicated. You will need several such in any case to underscore the new fashions properly. Any garments you buy can be adjusted at very little cost when you have reduced your measurements, so don't delay getting the therapeutic benefits they offer.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The dignity of willing labor is one of the principles which Christianity has established among us. It is a natural by-product of a faith whose founder was the Carpenter of Nazareth, whose first adherents were fishermen of Galilee.

Those who are eager to serve God and their fellow men find rich opportunities in the life of the Church. There are tasks for a man's hands, for his voice, for his pen, for his mind. There are needs that our offerings cannot supply . . . challenges that call for the talents and time of earnest men and women.

That friendly church which inspires us on Sunday is busy with the Lord's work all week. That man in the next pew is finding new happiness in willing Christian service. Are you?

U. S. Group Aids Priest In Colombia Community

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — An 18-year-old former New York girl has recruited a group of her friends in the United States to work here this summer in what she calls a "Catholic kibbutz."

A kibbutz is a communal farm in Israel, and Cathy Drexler's description of Father Rafael Garcia Herreros' "God's Minute" community of 230 families isn't far wide of the mark.

The 10 boys and girls from the United States, together with Cathy and four other daughters of U.S. officials here, are living in the community to help the Colombian Catholic priest raise the standard of living of families who have known only squalid poverty.

Father Garcia Herrero's community, founded four years ago, is a radical innovation designed to give poor families a chance in life through good housing, higher-than-average wages at the community workshops, self discipline and sober industry.

"I want to prove that the social problems of our time can be solved through Christianity," said the priest.

The community, about five miles from downtown Bogota, is nonsectarian.

Schooling is compulsory for children up to the ninth grade.

The community, including workshops, schools, a Catholic church (where attendance is optional), a movie, community hall and cooperative stores, covers about 30 acres. There are 250 homes on the land and the priest expects to build another 450. He has his own architeit and builder.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The dignity of willing labor is one of the principles which Christianity has established among us. It is a natural by-product of a faith whose founder was the Carpenter of Nazareth, whose first adherents were fishermen of Galilee.

Those who are eager to serve God and their fellow men find rich opportunities in the life of the Church. There are tasks for a man's hands, for his voice, for his pen, for his mind. There are needs that our offerings cannot supply . . . challenges that call for the talents and time of earnest men and women.

That friendly church which inspires us on Sunday is busy with the Lord's work all week. That man in the next pew is finding new happiness in willing Christian service. Are you?

U. S. Group Aids Priest In Colombia Community

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — An 18-year-old former New York girl has recruited a group of her friends in the United States to work here this summer in what she calls a "Catholic kibbutz."

A kibbutz is a communal farm in Israel, and Cathy Drexler's description of Father Rafael Garcia Herreros' "God's Minute" community of 230 families isn't far wide of the mark.

The 10 boys and girls from the United States, together with Cathy and four other daughters of U.S. officials here, are living in the community to help the Colombian Catholic priest raise the standard of living of families who have known only squalid poverty.

Father Garcia Herrero's community, founded four years ago, is a radical innovation designed to give poor families a chance in life through good housing, higher-than-average wages at the community workshops, self discipline and sober industry.

"I want to prove that the social problems of our time can be solved through Christianity," said the priest.

The community, about five miles from downtown Bogota, is nonsectarian.

Schooling is compulsory for children up to the ninth grade.

The community, including workshops, schools, a Catholic church (where attendance is optional), a movie, community hall and cooperative stores, covers about 30 acres. There are 250 homes on the land and the priest expects to build another 450. He has his own architeit and builder.

W. Va. Plans Crackdown On Drivers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Jack A. Nuckols has intensified his campaign to ban dangerous drivers from the state's highways.

Nuckols wrote all West Virginia judges, justices of the peace, law enforcement officers and the State Department of Public Safety, asking them to forward the names of all persons convicted of traffic violations and those considered to be "unfit to operate a motor vehicle on our highways."

The central electronic recording system now installed in the safety responsibility division will enable the department to keep a close surveillance over chronic traffic law violators.

While enforcement agencies regularly send in traffic accident reports, Nuckols believes some may have been lax in reporting the routine violation convictions. It is Nuckols' contention that a great many accidents are caused by drivers who often violate safe-driving laws.

"The only way to keep track of traffic violators is to keep their records on file," Nuckols said. The Motor Vehicles Department has broad powers but "we intend to use our authority cautiously. We feel the legislative intent for this agency has never been fully recognized or utilized." Now that the money is available, "we want to use the services and facilities we now have to the fullest extent," he added.

The sweetest plant in the world is said to be the stevia of Paraguay. It produces a liquid that is 300 times sweeter than sugar.

MDs United, Says Leader

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The outgoing president of the West Virginia Medical Association said in a farewell message that "continuous crises have welded physicians of our state and nation into a unified force which we have never experienced."

Dr. D. E. Greeneltch of Wheeling said a message in the state Medical Journal that the unity must be preserved and fostered because with it "we will continue to contain political demogogues who would see our profession deteriorate under the yoke of Federal controls."

Greeneltch said attacks of various kinds would continue to plague the medical profession until physicians themselves "solve whatever problems that exist relative to medical care."

"This will require effort, thought and sacrifice on the part of each of us," he said.

State Construction Contracts Increase

F. W. Dodge Corporation reported yesterday that June contracts for future construction were 19 per cent above the June 1961 level in Maryland.

The dollar volume of total construction contracts amounted to $72,988,000 according to Dodge.

Non-residential at $19,187,000, was up 15 per cent; residential at $32,696,000, up one per cent, and heavy engineering at $21,105,000, up 71 per cent.

Total construction contracts for the first six months of 1962 amounted to $587,474,000, a 76 per cent increase.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column has such wide readership maybe you can put the heat on the dress manufacturers to do away with dresses that zip up the back.

Whenever I'm in a hurry my zipper gets stuck right in the middle and I can't budge it. I've nearly strangled, thrown my neck out of joint and broken an arm trying to get a zipper up or down.

This morning I was late for work again because of a back zipper. It got stuck in the middle and I had to tear my way out. Of course the dress is ruined.

Will you join in the crusade to abolish dresses that zip up the back?—SALLY

DEAR SALLY: Sorry, but back zippers are a definite plus in some marriages. One man told me it was the only way his wife really made him feel important.

If back zippers are such a bane to you, resolve never to buy a dress unless it zips on the side or down the front.

I have long since sworn off dresses that go over the head and wreck the hair-do. Unless I can step into a garment I refuse to try it on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My first wife and I were both professional cooks. In fact, we met in the kitchen of a large hotel. A few years later we decided to call it quits.

My present wife doesn't want me to set foot in the kitchen of our home. The minute I walk in, she quits cooking and walks out. I've tried to surprise her, but she refuses to eat a mouthful of anything I prepare. She claims she can't stand the sight or the odor of fish. If I want fish I have to cook it out in the garage on a hot plate. I also have to eat it there.

I don't ask a lot. All I want is the privilege of living in my own home and puttering around once in a while, as other men do. What's wrong here?—HUMBLE SEEKER

DEAR SEEKER: There's more wrong here than appears in your letter. Your opening sentence suggests you are nostalgic about the days when you and Frau No. 1 held hands in the dishwater. Your present wife perhaps associates your cooking with those days and she resents it.

You need outside help before you wind up eating ALL your meals in the garage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two sisters-in-law who belong to the same church groups as I do. We are all active and attend prayer meetings, missionary classes and church socials. There's something doing at least twice a week.

One sister-in-law drives a car. She always picks up the other sister-in-law. I live right on the way. It would be no trouble for her to pick me up, too, but she never does. This has been going on for four years. I didn't pay much attention to it until recently when a friend brought it up. Now I am embarrassed.

I've never done anything to my sister-in-law to make her mad at me. She's the cold type so I've left her alone. Do you feel I should ask her to pick me up?—PASSED BY

DEAR BY: If your sister-in-law has been passing your house and ignoring you twice a week for four years it's by design.

You say you've never done anything TO her. Have you ever done anything FOR her? Perhaps she figures YOU'RE the cold type, so she's leaving YOU alone. A little friendliness is the best defroster in the world. Try it.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bible School Scheduled

Emmanuel Episcopal Church will sponsor a two-week vacation Bible school from August 13-24, according to Rev. August Peters, assistant rector.

Rev. Mr. Peters said the school will be open to children of the community. Kindergarten classes will be held for children between the ages of four and five and the primary department will have youths who are in grades one through three. The junior department will cover boys and girls who are in grades four through six.

Sessions will be held Monday through Friday each week from 9 a.m. to noon.

Rev. Mr. Peters said parents interested in registering their children for the school should come to the church or call PA 2-3364. Registration will be held all next week from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the church.

No registration fee will be charged, but an offering will be taken at the opening session on August 13, Rev. Mr. Peters said.

City To Work On Water Line

Water service will be disrupted for at least 24 hours Monday in the Nave's Crossroads section, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said.

The cutoff will be necessary to repair leaks, he added.

The shutoff will take place at 6 a.m. Monday and service will not be resumed until 6 a.m. Tuesday. In some instances, it may take three hours for pressure to build up after the turn on, according to Ray Nixon, water plant foreman.

For the past couple of days, Nixon and a crew from the Water Department have been preparing the area so that the disruption will be as little as possible. Materials needed for the repair have been stockpiled and forms set, he said.

No Objection To Ordnance Works Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Spokesmen for a Senate and House committee indicated Friday no objection to a plan to sell the old Army Ordnance Works at Morgantown, W. Va.

The General Services Administration (GSA) has agreed to sell the 800-acre facility for $1,250,000 to the Morgantown Community Association.

However, the plan cannot go through until the Senate and House government operations committee reviews it. Objections may be raised during a 30-day period after it is received by the committees.

The deadline for objecting to the deal expired at the close of Friday's business day.

Spokesmen for the two committees said they knew of no reason why the transaction should not be completed.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

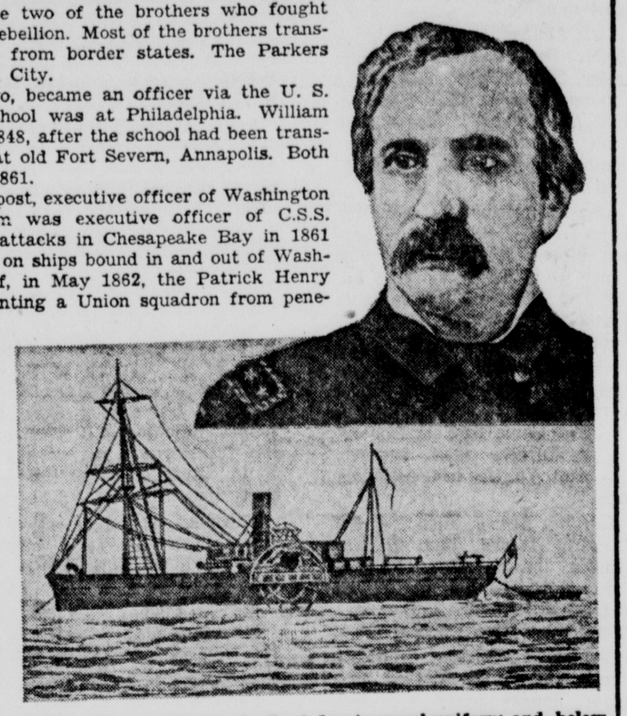

No. 152 Foxhall Alexander Parker and William Harwar Parker were two of the brothers who fought against each other in the Rebellion. Most of the brothers transformed into enemies were from border states. The Parkers were natives of New York City.

Foxhall, elder of the two, became an officer via the U. S. Navy School when the school was at Philadelphia. William was No. 1 in the class of 1848, after the school had been transformed into the academy at old Fort Severn, Annapolis. Both were lieutenants in April 1861.

Foxhall remained at his post, executive officer of Washington Navy Yard, while William was executive officer of C.S.S. Patrick Henry during its attacks in Chesapeake Bay in 1861 and the early part of 1862 on ships bound in and out of Washington. At Drewry's Bluff, in May 1862, the Patrick Henry was instrumental in preventing a Union squadron from penetrating the James to Richmond.

After that battle the converted passenger ship was designated the Confederate States Naval Academy, with Parker as superintendent. The Patrick Henry was kept in the James to aid in the defense of the river, but was equipped with additional facilities for instruction. Dormitories were erected ashore at Drewry's Bluff, for the cadets. Guns removed from the Patrick Henry to arm that key defensive position in the James gave the cadets on-the-job training.

W. Va. Plans Crackdown On Drivers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Jack A. Nuckols has intensified his campaign to ban dangerous drivers from the state's highways.

Nuckols wrote all West Virginia judges, justices of the peace, law enforcement officers and the State Department of Public Safety, asking them to forward the names of all persons convicted of traffic violations and those considered to be "unfit to operate a motor vehicle on our highways."

The central electronic recording system now installed in the safety responsibility division will enable the department to keep a close surveillance over chronic traffic law violators.

While enforcement agencies regularly send in traffic accident reports, Nuckols believes some may have been lax in reporting the routine violation convictions. It is Nuckols' contention that a great many accidents are caused by drivers who often violate safe-driving laws.

"The only way to keep track of traffic violators is to keep their records on file," Nuckols said. The Motor Vehicles Department has broad powers but "we intend to use our authority cautiously. We feel the legislative intent for this agency has never been fully recognized or utilized." Now that the money is available, "we want to use the services and facilities we now have to the fullest extent," he added.

The sweetest plant in the world is said to be the stevia of Paraguay. It produces a liquid that is 300 times sweeter than sugar.

MDs United, Says Leader

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The outgoing president of the West Virginia Medical Association said in a farewell message that "continuous crises have welded physicians of our state and nation into a unified force which we have never experienced."

Dr. D. E. Greeneltch of Wheeling said a message in the state Medical Journal that the unity must be preserved and fostered because with it "we will continue to contain political demogogues who would see our profession deteriorate under the yoke of Federal controls."

Greeneltch said attacks of various kinds would continue to plague the medical profession until physicians themselves "solve whatever problems that exist relative to medical care."

"This will require effort, thought and sacrifice on the part of each of us," he said.

State Construction Contracts Increase

F. W. Dodge Corporation reported yesterday that June contracts for future construction were 19 per cent above the June 1961 level in Maryland.

The dollar volume of total construction contracts amounted to $72,988,000 according to Dodge.

Non-residential at $19,187,000, was up 15 per cent; residential at $32,696,000, up one per cent, and heavy engineering at $21,105,000, up 71 per cent.

Total construction contracts for the first six months of 1962 amounted to $587,474,000, a 76 per cent increase.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column has such wide readership maybe you can put the heat on the dress manufacturers to do away with dresses that zip up the back.

Whenever I'm in a hurry my zipper gets stuck right in the middle and I can't budge it. I've nearly strangled, thrown my neck out of joint and broken an arm trying to get a zipper up or down.

This morning I was late for work again because of a back zipper. It got stuck in the middle and I had to tear my way out. Of course the dress is ruined.

Will you join in the crusade to abolish dresses that zip up the back?—SALLY

DEAR SALLY: Sorry, but back zippers are a definite plus in some marriages. One man told me it was the only way his wife really made him feel important.

If back zippers are such a bane to you, resolve never to buy a dress unless it zips on the side or down the front.

I have long since sworn off dresses that go over the head and wreck the hair-do. Unless I can step into a garment I refuse to try it on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My first wife and I were both professional cooks. In fact, we met in the kitchen of a large hotel. A few years later we decided to call it quits.

My present wife doesn't want me to set foot in the kitchen of our home. The minute I walk in, she quits cooking and walks out. I've tried to surprise her, but she refuses to eat a mouthful of anything I prepare. She claims she can't stand the sight or the odor of fish. If I want fish I have to cook it out in the garage on a hot plate. I also have to eat it there.

I don't ask a lot. All I want is the privilege of living in my own home and puttering around once in a while, as other men do. What's wrong here?—HUMBLE SEEKER

DEAR SEEKER: There's more wrong here than appears in your letter. Your opening sentence suggests you are nostalgic about the days when you and Frau No. 1 held hands in the dishwater. Your present wife perhaps associates your cooking with those days and she resents it.

You need outside help before you wind up eating ALL your meals in the garage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have two sisters-in-law who belong to the same church groups as I do. We are all active and attend prayer meetings, missionary classes and church socials. There's something doing at least twice a week.

One sister-in-law drives a car. She always picks up the other sister-in-law. I live right on the way. It would be no trouble for her to pick me up, too, but she never does. This has been going on for four years. I didn't pay much attention to it until recently when a friend brought it up. Now I am embarrassed.

I've never done anything to my sister-in-law to make her mad at me. She's the cold type so I've left her alone. Do you feel I should ask her to pick me up?—PASSED BY

DEAR BY: If your sister-in-law has been passing your house and ignoring you twice a week for four years it's by design.

You say you've never done anything TO her. Have you ever done anything FOR her? Perhaps she figures YOU'RE the cold type, so she's leaving YOU alone. A little friendliness is the best defroster in the world. Try it.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bible School Scheduled

Emmanuel Episcopal Church will sponsor a two-week vacation Bible school from August 13-24, according to Rev. August Peters, assistant rector.

Rev. Mr. Peters said the school will be open to children of the community. Kindergarten classes will be held for children between the ages of four and five and the primary department will have youths who are in grades one through three. The junior department will cover boys and girls who are in grades four through six.

Sessions will be held Monday through Friday each week from 9 a.m. to noon.

Rev. Mr. Peters said parents interested in registering their children for the school should come to the church or call PA 2-3364. Registration will be held all next week from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the church.

No registration fee will be charged, but an offering will be taken at the opening session on August 13, Rev. Mr. Peters said.

City To Work On Water Line

Water service will be disrupted for at least 24 hours Monday in the Nave's Crossroads section, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light said.

The cutoff will be necessary to repair leaks, he added.

The shutoff will take place at 6 a.m. Monday and service will not be resumed until 6 a.m. Tuesday. In some instances, it may take three hours for pressure to build up after the turn on, according to Ray Nixon, water plant foreman.

For the past couple of days, Nixon and a crew from the Water Department have been preparing the area so that the disruption will be as little as possible. Materials needed for the repair have been stockpiled and forms set, he said.

No Objection To Ordnance Works Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Spokesmen for a Senate and House committee indicated Friday no objection to a plan to sell the old Army Ordnance Works at Morgantown, W. Va.

The General Services Administration (GSA) has agreed to sell the 800-acre facility for $1,250,000 to the Morgantown Community Association.

However, the plan cannot go through until the Senate and House government operations committee reviews it. Objections may be raised during a 30-day period after it is received by the committees.

The deadline for objecting to the deal expired at the close of Friday's business day.

Spokesmen for the two committees said they knew of no reason why the transaction should not be completed.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

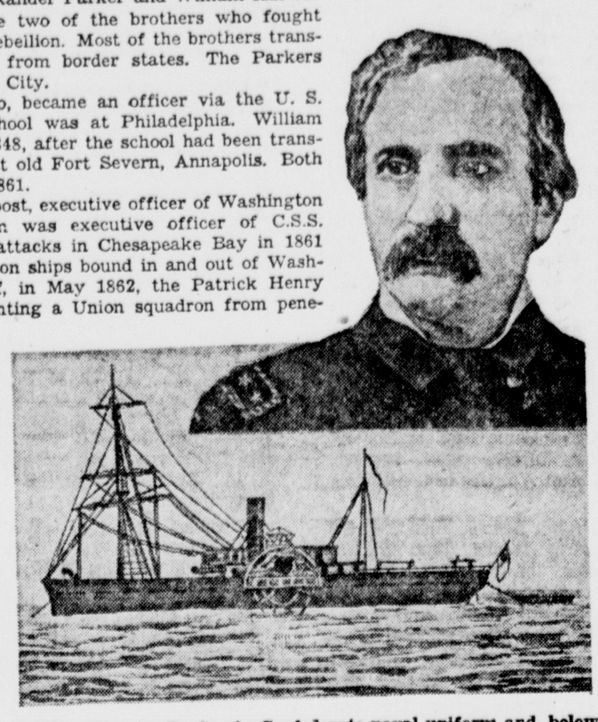

No. 152 Foxhall Alexander Parker and William Harwar Parker were two of the brothers who fought against each other in the Rebellion. Most of the brothers transformed into enemies were from border states. The Parkers were natives of New York City.

Foxhall, elder of the two, became an officer via the U. S. Navy School when the school was at Philadelphia. William was No. 1 in the class of 1848, after the school had been transformed into the academy at old Fort Severn, Annapolis. Both were lieutenants in April 1861.

Foxhall remained at his post, executive officer of Washington Navy Yard, while William was executive officer of C.S.S. Patrick Henry during its attacks in Chesapeake Bay in 1861 and the early part of 1862 on ships bound in and out of Washington. At Drewry's Bluff, in May 1862, the Patrick Henry was instrumental in preventing a Union squadron from penetrating the James to Richmond.

After that battle the converted passenger ship was designated the Confederate States Naval Academy, with Parker as superintendent. The Patrick Henry was kept in the James to aid in the defense of the river, but was equipped with additional facilities for instruction. Dormitories were erected ashore at Drewry's Bluff, for the cadets. Guns removed from the Patrick Henry to arm that key defensive position in the James gave the cadets on-the-job training.

•A Weathervane Made Of Steel

Steel, the most eagerly sought product throughout the world during the postwar reconstruction period, has become an international weathervane in the current era of vigorous trade activity. The United States in particular is sensitive to steel, as the industry increasingly becomes a pawn in tariff reductions negotiated between the U. S. and other nations.

The spotlight has been on the steel-making potential of Japan, and its cost advantage in American markets. This advantage is formidable, but Japan is not the number one steel exporter to the United States. It ranks a poor second to the Belgium-Luxembourg region, which supplies 33 per cent of the steel imported by the U. S.

Japan's share of last year's imports was 19 per cent of the total. However, a glance at steel production and export statistics reveals these two suppliers are increasing their capacities more rapidly than the United States, and both are likely to increase sales to the U. S. in the years ahead.

For the first five months of 1962, steel imports into the U. S. from all sources were up 70 per cent over last year, while U. S. exports rose only 8 per cent. Japan and Belgium accounted for the major portions of this increase.

Neither Japan nor the Belgium-Luxembourg region has reached the apex of postwar growth. Both suppliers have expansion plans now in progress and additional facilities on the drawing boards.

Domestic demand in both areas has been surpassed by present production capacity, and the growth in additional facilities threatens greater competition for the U. S. both at home and in world markets. Meeting this expanding competition will require all the resourcefulness and technological advancements the American steel industry is capable of.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Time Wasters

It is astonishing that the Democrats in New York State continue to waste time in an internal squabble among hardly known personalities who project themselves to run for Governor against Nelson Rockefeller. For President Kennedy this is, indeed, a serious matter. For if Rockefeller is re-elected Governor of the State of New York, he is likely to be the Republican candidate for President in 1964 and he could be a tough contestant. While Rockefeller is not as popular as he once was, he nevertheless cannot be defeated by nobody and most of the names mentioned are not formidable.

The Democrats in New York State come up with names of honorable and locally distinguished men but they are generally unknown. An important judge of a local court may make a suitable Governor if he can be elected, but no matter how worthy he may be, if not known to the voters, he will fail. The same holds for other local celebrities who would like to lock horns with Governor Rockefeller.

It looks as though the Democrats will be forced to resort to Mayor Wagner. He has continuously refused the crown of the governorship, but a politician can refuse today and accept tomorrow and no one really bothers. Wagner likes the role of Mayor. It is a warm, homely kind of job that fits his personality. The Governor of even so large a state as New York has to belabor public relations to keep before the people. Al Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt could do it because they were masters of public relations. Governor Rockefeller does not do his public relations well, and his speech writers are atrocious. They do not seem to understand the demographic character of New York.

Nevertheless there is magic in the name Rockefeller and if Nelson is not among the geniuses of the Earth, he is by no means a clod and he has a large measure of personal attractiveness. The Democrats have to match Rockefeller with an outstanding personality. No local politician will suffice. The Rockefeller divorce, which looked very scandalous, cannot be used as a campaign issue in New York.

This then is the Democrats' dilemma. Unless Wagner chooses to run, they will have to make a choice between James Farley and Frank Hogan, both of whom are unannounced candidates. The announced candidates may well be ignored, as they cannot, with political pragmatism, be chosen. Farley probably could defeat Rockefeller; so could Wagner. But none of the other names stand up satisfactorily under the scrutiny of public testing.

Wagner would carry the large cities in New York State. He would have the support of the Liberal Party and of organized labor. But what would become of him should he, by the accidents of politics, be defeated? As it is now, he sits comfortably as Mayor of New York in his third term. His ambition is to become a United States Senator in the seat that his father filled for many years.

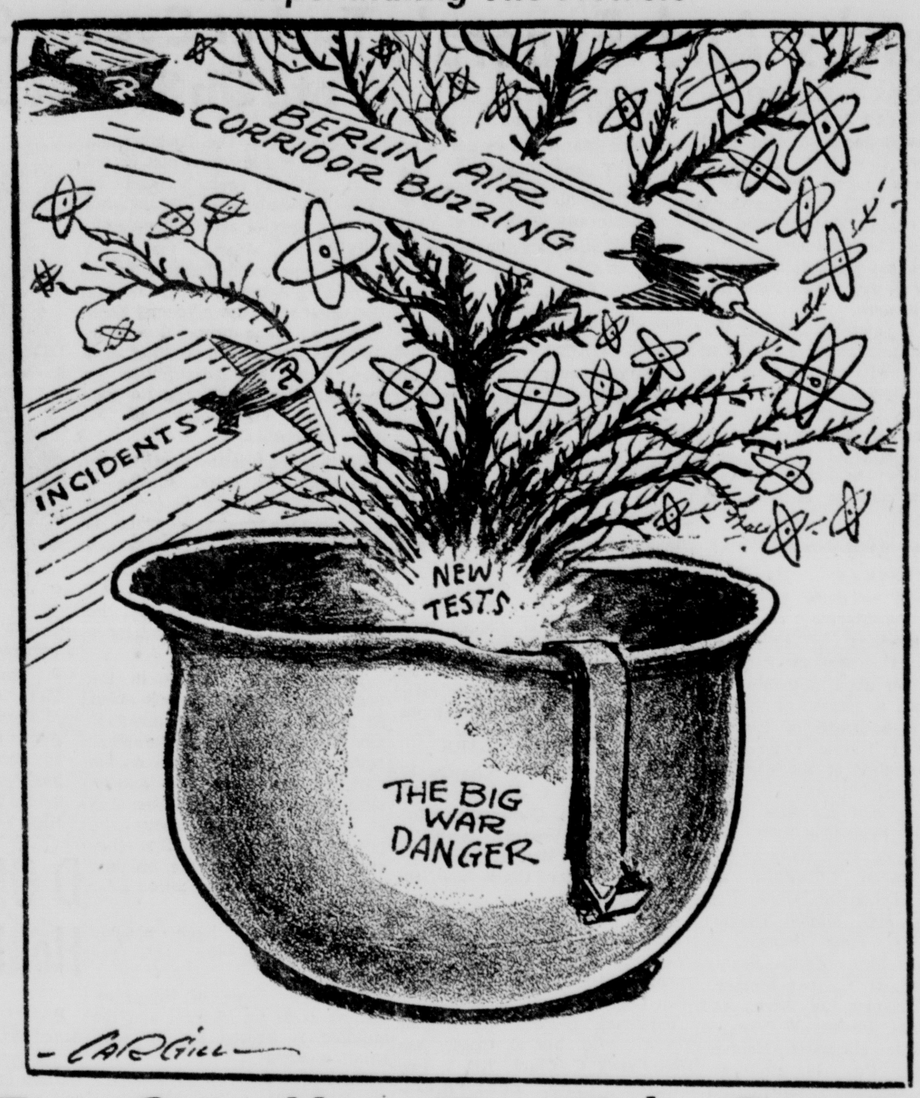

Were he defeated in a campaign for the governorship, it would be difficult for him to run for the United States Senate. On the other hand, his political position, even in New York City, would be weakened. Now he is strong, the leader of his party throughout the state.

Thus, Mayor Wagner's problem is to decide whether he will risk to battle Rockefeller for the governorship. Should he make the campaign, Rockefeller will have a tough opponent and the Kennedys will have ample reason to be grateful to Wagner. It is the fact that the Kennedys will owe Wagner a political debt if he runs that makes his candidacy so important politically. Should he fail, an important position could be found for him in Washington, but a satisfactory position does not now seem available.

As for Rockefeller, should he be re-elected, he could and probably would be the Republican candidate for the Presidency. This would split the Republican Party but not more so than the Democratic Party is now split. Should Rockefeller be defeated in New York State, he would be a man without a political future and would probably devote himself to the survival of the Rockefeller fortune and name. Such a defeat would help the Kennedy candidacy in 1964.

Repollinating The Flowers

Greece, With Little Help From U. S., Resists Moscow, Makes Progress

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on vacation. In his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

ATHENS—This tiny, strategic country, where democracy was born, is probably the No. 1 showcase for the success of the Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine.

Fifteen years ago, when Harry Truman took the boldest step of the postwar period and announced American aid for Greece and Turkey, this country was in the throes of bitter pro- and anti-Communits turmoil. Its northern borders were infiltrated every day by Yugoslav guerrillas, its treasury was bankrupt, and it seemed only a matter of time before it slipped behind the Iron Curtain.

Today, Greece has one of the stablest governments in its history, is reasonably prosperous, and, unlike some other West European countries, is grateful for the help of the United States. In few other countries does the United States get such friendly cooperation as from both the government and the people.

This does not mean that Greece is without problems. Its 8,000,000 population—about the same as the City of New York—has a hard time scratching a living out of the rocky, wind-swept hills which slope abruptly into the sea. And to discuss these problems, I went to see the man who has been Prime Minister longer than any other elected official in Greek history, Constantine Caramanlis.

Period Of Achievement

Perhaps because modern Greece has been so energetic in practicing democracy, she has permitted only three Greek Prime Ministers to remain four years in office since 1860. Caramanlis is one of them. At the end of his present term he will have served eight years, and a total of 15 years in Parliament.

The man who accomplished this record is the son of a schoolteacher who grew up in Turkish Greece where he learned the problem of precarious existance. He is handsome, vigorous, charming, and aside from his bristling eyebrows which have grayed a bit, doesn't look any older than when I saw him three years ago just as he was about to receive President Eisenhower on Ike's tour of the Near East and India.

"We are making great progress," the Prime Minister told me. "But we are in a period where we must achieve our goals or else fall back. We cannot stand still.

"I have set up a five-year plan which calls for reclamation, electrification, highways, other public works, bringing water to villages which have never had water before, improving our education. But this plan requires $200,000,000 a year, of which I am taking $50,000,000 out of our regular budget, borrowing $50,000,000 at home and want to borrow $100,000,000 from the United States, France, and West Germany—or wherever I can get it.

"But I haven't been able to get it."

End Of U. S. Aid

The question that brought this answer was one I had asked and which many Greeks are now asking—namely, what will be the effect of cutting off American aid?

Actually, Greece has been getting only driblets of American aid in recent years—$20,000,000 last year, chiefly in surplus farm products. But this is the first year without any U. S. aid, and the cut-off came simultaneously with American attempts to work out help for Greece from West Germany and more prosperous Marshall Plan countries—so far not forthcoming. But the cut-off also came simultaneously with a concerted political drive against the pro-American Premier by his enemies in Parliament.

"So the psychological impact," said Caramanlis, "has been considerable.

"Some countries use blackmail to secure American aid," the Prime minister continued. "They want the American fire department to come and put out the fires of Communism.

"I could light some fires, but I don't. I could yell Communism, but I don't. We are the only NATO country surrounded on three sides by Communist countries—Albania on the northwest, Yugoslavia on the north, and Bulgaria on the east. But I am not yelling for help. We are extremely grateful for your country's great help in the past, and would have no great problems were it not for our heavy military budget in order to pull our oar in NATO."

"Have you been invited to Moscow?" I asked.

"Yes, about every six months or so, I get sounded out about making a pilgrimage to Moscow, but I have not gone," was the reply.

"What became of that Soviet offer to buy all the surplus Greek farm production?" I asked, referring to a proposal made through the Premier's enemy, ex-Premier Venizelos, to buy all the extra raisins, olive oil, and other Greek farm products which are hard to sell.

"We have never accepted it," Caramanlis replied

Such are the problems of the country once on the verge of Communism, the first country the United States aided, even before the Marshall Plan. The problems continue, but, in contrast to the bitter days of postwar turmoil, Greece has become a model of efficient democracy.

NEW YORK CITY

In the slatternly reaches of the upper Bronx, the red brick cliffs of Parkchester rise like a monument to humble comfort. This huge lower middle income community, housing thousands of families, has its own historic interest as one of the first big urban redevelopments.

The job was so well done, moreover, that people who get into Parkchester tend to stay there until the undertaker comes. The result is an abnormally high concentration of elderly and retired people. And it was this feature which attracted this reporter and a member of the staff of Louis Harris and Associates to Parkchester, for a long and arduous session of doorbell-ringing.

We were trying to find out, in fact, whether the issue of medical care for the aged still retains the great political pull that all the pollsters began to report some time ago. The need for such a sounding had been suggested by a day's pavement pounding in suburban Huntley Estates.

As already noted in this space, President Kennedy had made deep inroads among the Huntley Estates people since 1960, when they gave former Vice President Nixon a handsome majority. Yet Kennedy's new support seemed a bit mushy and unreliable, because there was little fervor and passion among the new Kennedy admirers.

One reason for this was that the President clearly had only one major issue going for him in a big way. His handling of foreign and defense policy commanded strong support. "He's careful, but he's firm too," was a typical comment. On the other hand, the people in our Huntley Estates sample were downright snappish about medicare, professing active disapproval of the President's bill by a ratio of nearly three to two.

Hence, we went to Parkchester to check the Huntley Estates evidence in a quite different community. The results of a large number of interviews were particularly interesting, because the Parkchester pattern, despite the difference in income-level, average age-level, and environment, was so close to the Huntley Estates pattern.

Here, too, the President had made substantial though not dramatic inroads among people who had overwhelmingly voted for President Eisenhower and given Nixon a narrow majority. And the Republicans had lost even more than Kennedy had gained.

A small percentage of voters had switched decisively from the Nixon column to the Kennedy column. But a somewhat larger percentage of former Nixon voters were now undecided about whether they would vote Republican again. Thus Kennedy's absolute majority of the decided voters was large. And when Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller was paired against the President, the Republican showing was even more melancholy.

On the other hand, this Parkchester sample, at least 40 per cent composed of men and women already eligible for medicare's prospectice benefits, showed only very moderate enthusiasm for this supposedly sure-fire vote-getter.

Only one-half of the persons in the sample favored medicare. Among these there were also many who merely said "something should be done," but professed doubts about the President's actual bill. One of the big private health insurance schemes had just announced a steep rise in premiums. Otherwise, it is doubtful whether medicare would have had even 50 per cent support.

Among the other persons in the Parkchester sample, 40 per cent were opposed to medicare, and most of these, including many elderly people, were quite sharply opposed. Ten per cent did not know how they felt about it. Most of those who favored medicare were also rock-bottom Kennedy supporters. Overall, the President seemed to have gained only the barest handful of votes by medicare in this Parkchester community where the scheme ought to have been as hot as a firecracker.

As for the tax cuts to stimulate business which are now being debated in Washington, their political effect may well be the exact opposite of what Washington expects, if the Huntley Estates and Parkchester evidence is not misleading. In both communities, a substantial majority of the people polled—at least 55 per cent—were positively opposed to tax cuts at this time.

"Anybody'd like a tax cut, but we've got to pay for the government, haven't we?" was a characteristic comment. Others were: "Defending the U. S. costs money, and it's just politics to pretend it doesn't." And: "I think we ought to balance the budget instead of cutting taxes."

In truth, the sturdiness of these people under a heavy tax burden was exceptionally impressive, even though their grasp of Keynesian economics was plainly inadequate. But this means that even generous income tax cuts, if eventually voted, may not help the Democrats in the fall election.

Truly, something is always to be learned by revisiting the grass roots. They are the best way station from Washington to anywhere else, including even a short vacation which this reporter is about to take.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SENATOR FROM TEXAS — Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas is seeking some answers concerning the "equal time" provisions of the law governing the broadcasting and telecasting of political material.

Roughly, the law provides that if a candidate for office is given time on the air to make a political appeal, his opponents should be granted equal time to make their own appeals.

Yarborough, a Democrat, is concerned about the political effects of the much greater publicity being given to the other senator from Texas, John G. Tower, a Republican. Tower's views appear constantly over the air, partly because he's number two man in the right wing echelon of Republicans, and partly because he's the first Texas Republican to be elected to the Senate since Civil War reconstruction days.

At Yarborough's request, the Columbia Broadcasting System has agreed to survey the relative time the two rival senators have been given on the Texas air. It's extremely likely that Yarborough will push for some sort of change in the law once he has the statistical information in hand.

But another matter is troubling Yarborough, too. It seems that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has been arrogating to himself federal patronage that is available to Texas, with the result that the unhappy senator is unable to get any mileage either on the air, or from benefits that flow from being able to do a job favor for a politically powerful constituent.

About a year ago, however, Yarborough did get a bit of patronage, a job he was permitted to fill with a man of his own choosing, appointment to an agricultural advisory committee.

And who did Yarborough pick? Billie Sol Estes!

Narcotics Addiction

By Helen B. Shaffer

WASHINGTON—The long-standing controversy over drug addiction — is it a crime or is it a disease?—appears headed for a compromise settlement. Harshly punitive measures for traffickers in drugs will remain on the books; the federal law, and many state laws, prescribe long mandatory prison terms and prohibit probation or parole. But there is a trend toward more sympathetic handling of the non-criminal addict, or the addict who resorts only to petty crime to support his habit. For the latter, there is already a federal hospitalization program designed not only to terminate the addict's physical dependence on narcotics but also to so change his outlook on life that he will not be tempted to go back to drugs after he has been freed from medical and police supervision.

The depressing truth about the hospital program is that it has failed to prevent the vast majority of those who have taken the treatment at one of the two Public Health Service narcotic hospitals, at Lexington, Ky., and Fort Worth, Texas, from slipping back into the drug habit. A recent survey showed that more than 90 per cent of 2,000 former Lexington patients living in New York City had become re-addicted, and that most of them had started taking drugs again within six months after they left the hospital.

The relapsed addicts went back on narcotics for the same reason that they had begun taking them in the first place: a basic emotional disorder which rendered them incapable of coping with life's daily problems. This, at least, is the prevailing view of medical authorities. Ending the physical dependence on drugs is relatively easy; curing the emotional disorder which makes the individual seek escape from his troubles is another matter.

The key to permanent eradication of the drug habit is now believed to lie in provision of a lengthy period of supervised rehabilitation in the "cured" addict's home community. This phase of the treatment program has been the least developed to date. However, several states where the addiction problem is acute have undertaken special programs of intensive case work with former addicts, offering them psychiatric therapy, help in finding jobs, and similar services.

Programs of this kind in California and New York, the two states which harbor three-fifths of the estimated 60,000 addicts in the country, have been undertaken under the parole system. Experts believe that because of the emotional immaturity of the typical addict and his susceptibility to relapse, he needs the strong arm of authority to lean on during the readjustment to normal life.

Under ordinary parole procedures, a parolee who was found to have taken a single "shot" of narcotics was immediately returned to prison. Under the new program, setbacks of this kind are expected. The former addict may be "forgiven" one or two slips if the officer feels that he has a good chance of making a permanent recovery without danger to the community. More than one-third of the parolees so treated in the first three years the New York program was in operation made a satisfactory adjustment.

Rehabilitative services of this kind, however, are not available to the large majority of addicts, many of whom are serving long prison terms for narcotics offenses. Authorities now feel that a sharper distinction should be made between the addict who is primarily a victim of drugs and the criminal trafficker who happens also to be an addict. In the case of an addict who "pushes" dope at the lowest level of the illicit market to get money to support his habit, the distinction may be difficult to make.

Critics of the federal narcotics laws object to the harsh penalties they prescribe for addicts and traffickers alike. The director of the federal Bureau of Prisons, James V. Bennett, is among those who consider the long sentences—in some cases 40 years or even life—a "travesty of our concepts of justice." He objects particularly to the ban on parole and probation, which removes any incentive for rehabilitation and overloads the penal institutions.

Pending legislation points in the direction of more sympathetic handling of addicts. Several bills would provide additional hospital facilities, including a new federal institution in the New York metropolitan area; the bills would provide also for federal financing in part of a complete course of treatment, including post-hospital rehabilitation services. Another measure would authorize hospital commitment, under civil procedures, of addicts charged with minor offenses; after an addict so committed had been certified as fully cured by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, criminal charges against him would be dismissed. A state law of this kind was adopted in New York last spring.

Small Percentage Of Moles Become Malignant

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How dangerous are moles? Not very, considering the billions adorning people throughout the world and the relatively small percentage that become malignant. One skin specialist saw only five cancers originating in these growths during 35 years of active practice.

On the other hand, the lesions are potentially dangerous when irritated by shaving, picking, or rubbing by a collar or bra. The result may be a malignant melanoma (cancerous mole), a rapidly growing tumor. Furthermore, the situation is hopeless once this cancer spreads.

Itching is the first sign of something amiss. The mole throws off a slight secretion, darkens in color, or increases in size. Bluish or slate colored lesions are particularly vicious, even though they are smooth and look innocent. Ulceration and bleeding offer more decisive clews. Most authorities view any of these changes with suspicion and advise removal.

But removal must be complete. An inadequate or unskilled job may be more disastrous than letting the mole alone. Avoid the application of agents such as nitric acid because they serve as irritants and stimulate growth instead of killing the cells. The same can be said of the improper use of the cautery.

The safest method of removal is with a scalpel or an electro-surgical knife. The incision extends well beyond the borders of the growth.

Moles are made up of embryonic cells that contain melanin, a brownish pigment. The majority are visible at birth although the dot may be so tiny as to escape notice. But the lesion gets larger as the child grows and, after a few years, tends to remain stationary.

Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on moles, if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

ACHING AFTER EATING

I. I. writes: Would you have any idea why my 7 year old son gets a stomach ache after eating? He has to lie down for 10 minutes after each meal. Our doctor can find nothing wrong.

REPLY

If X-rays show no abnormality of the stomach or intestines, emotional factors may be responsible. Allow the boy to relax for 10 minutes after each meal and don't show your concern.

TYPES OF HEADACHE

W. S. writes: Are sinus and migraine headaches something alike?

REPLY

Yes, but they have entirely different origins and are easy to tell apart for this reason. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on migraine and sinus disorders.

SLOW STOMACH

After British humorist Ronald Searle returned home from his first comprehensive American tour, he reported, "I asked a mountaineer in West Virginia who was 103 years old how he passed his time. He told me that in winter he mostly sleeps, in springtime he chases a likely female cousin around the rocks, in the summer he makes moonshine whiskey out of potato peelings and coffee grounds, and in the fall he drinks it."

Distinguished publisher Ben Huebsch entertained recently an authentic absent-minded professor. It was a hot evening and both gentlemen peeled off their jackets. About eleven the good professor sought to show Mr. Huebsch a document. He extracted a handful of papers from the inside pocket of the coat hung over the back of his chair, and hastily examined the lot. Unfortunately, he could not find the paper he wanted, and in some annoyance, threw the others in the trash basket. Mr. Huebsch protested mildly, "Hey,. that's my jacket."

West Germany with 8,759 "millionaires" now has just twice as many as that country did five years ago. However, that's not figured in U.S. dollars. These are just high-ranking marks-men.

A mole can tunnel 300 feet in a single night—Factographs. For such a little fellow, that's quite a 100-yard dash!

The Namib area in Southwest Africa has less than two inches of rainfall a year. It would be an ideal picnic area save for one small detail—Namib, we understand, is an utterly barren desert.

France's Palace of Versailles has 27 acres of roof—Factographs. That's a mighty expensive overhead!

A Weathervane Made Of Steel

Steel, the most eagerly sought product throughout the world during the postwar reconstruction period, has become an international weathervane in the current era of vigorous trade activity. The United States in particular is sensitive to steel, as the industry increasingly becomes a pawn in tariff reductions negotiated between the U. S. and other nations.

The spotlight has been on the steel-making potential of Japan, and its cost advantage in American markets. This advantage is formidable, but Japan is not the number one steel exporter to the United States. It ranks a poor second to the Belgium-Luxembourg region, which supplies 33 per cent of the steel imported by the U. S.

Japan's share of last year's imports was 19 per cent of the total. However, a glance at steel production and export statistics reveals these two suppliers are increasing their capacities more rapidly than the United States, and both are likely to increase sales to the U. S. in the years ahead.

For the first five months of 1962, steel imports into the U. S. from all sources were up 70 per cent over last year, while U. S. exports rose only 8 per cent. Japan and Belgium accounted for the major portions of this increase.

Neither Japan nor the Belgium-Luxembourg region has reached the apex of postwar growth. Both suppliers have expansion plans now in progress and additional facilities on the drawing boards.

Domestic demand in both areas has been surpassed by present production capacity, and the growth in additional facilities threatens greater competition for the U. S. both at home and in world markets. Meeting this expanding competition will require all the resourcefulness and technological advancements the American steel industry is capable of.

Time Wasters

It is astonishing that the Democrats in New York State continue to waste time in an internal squabble among hardly known personalities who project themselves to run for Governor against Nelson Rockefeller. For President Kennedy this is, indeed, a serious matter. For if Rockefeller is re-elected Governor of the State of New York, he is likely to be the Republican candidate for President in 1964 and he could be a tough contestant. While Rockefeller is not as popular as he once was, he nevertheless cannot be defeated by nobody and most of the names mentioned are not formidable.

The Democrats in New York State come up with names of honorable and locally distinguished men but they are generally unknown. An important judge of a local court may make a suitable Governor if he can be elected, but no matter how worthy he may be, if not known to the voters, he will fail. The same holds for other local celebrities who would like to lock horns with Governor Rockefeller.

It looks as though the Democrats will be forced to resort to Mayor Wagner. He has continuously refused the crown of the governorship, but a politician can refuse today and accept tomorrow and no one really bothers. Wagner likes the role of Mayor. It is a warm, homely kind of job that fits his personality. The Governor of even so large a state as New York has to belabor public relations to keep before the people. Al Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt could do it because they were masters of public relations. Governor Rockefeller does not do his public relations well, and his speech writers are atrocious. They do not seem to understand the demographic character of New York.

Nevertheless there is magic in the name Rockefeller and if Nelson is not among the geniuses of the Earth, he is by no means a clod and he has a large measure of personal attractiveness. The Democrats have to match Rockefeller with an outstanding personality. No local politician will suffice. The Rockefeller divorce, which looked very scandalous, cannot be used as a campaign issue in New York.

This then is the Democrats' dilemma. Unless Wagner chooses to run, they will have to make a choice between James Farley and Frank Hogan, both of whom are unannounced candidates. The announced candidates may well be ignored, as they cannot, with political pragmatism, be chosen. Farley probably could defeat Rockefeller; so could Wagner. But none of the other names stand up satisfactorily under the scrutiny of public testing.

Wagner would carry the large cities in New York State. He would have the support of the Liberal Party and of organized labor. But what would become of him should he, by the accidents of politics, be defeated? As it is now, he sits comfortably as Mayor of New York in his third term. His ambition is to become a United States Senator in the seat that his father filled for many years.

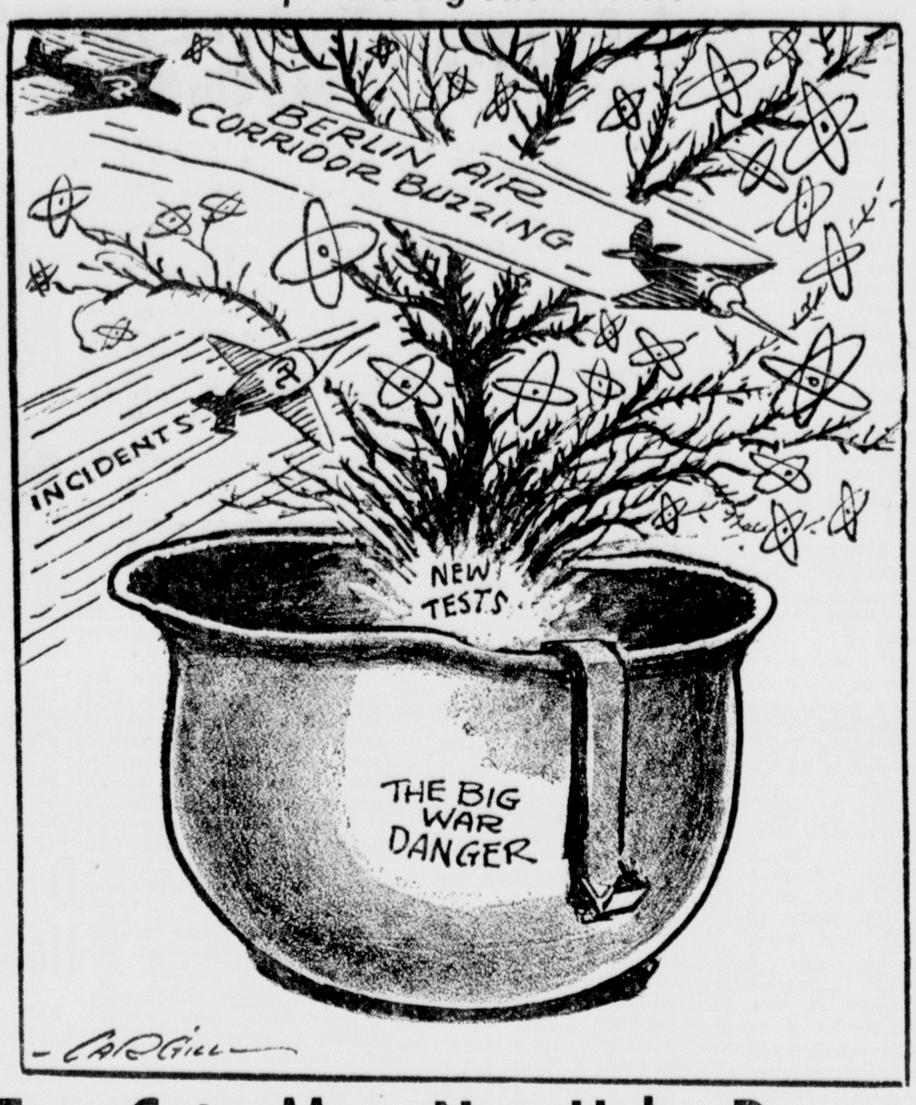

Were he defeated in a campaign for the governorship, it would be difficult for him to run for the United States Senate. On the other hand, his political position, even in New York City, would be weakened. Now he is strong, the leader of his party throughout the state.

Thus, Mayor Wagner's problem is to decide whether he will risk to battle Rockefeller for the governorship. Should he make the campaign, Rockefeller will have a tough opponent and the Kennedys will have ample reason to be grateful to Wagner. It is the fact that the Kennedys will owe Wagner a political debt if he runs that makes his candidacy so important politically. Should he fail, an important position could be found for him in Washington, but a satisfactory position does not now seem available.

As for Rockefeller, should he be re-elected, he could and probably would be the Republican candidate for the Presidency. This would split the Republican Party but not more so than the Democratic Party is now split. Should Rockefeller be defeated in New York State, he would be a man without a political future and would probably devote himself to the survival of the Rockefeller fortune and name. Such a defeat would help the Kennedy candidacy in 1964.

Greece, With Little Help From U. S., Resists Moscow, Makes Progress

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is on vacation. In his absence, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

ATHENS—This tiny, strategic country, where democracy was born, is probably the No. 1 showcase for the success of the Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine.

Fifteen years ago, when Harry Truman took the boldest step of the postwar period and announced American aid for Greece and Turkey, this country was in the throes of bitter pro- and anti-Communits turmoil. Its northern borders were infiltrated every day by Yugoslav guerrillas, its treasury was bankrupt, and it seemed only a matter of time before it slipped behind the Iron Curtain.

Today, Greece has one of the stablest governments in its history, is reasonably prosperous, and, unlike some other West European countries, is grateful for the help of the United States. In few other countries does the United States get such friendly cooperation as from both the government and the people.

This does not mean that Greece is without problems. Its 8,000,000 population—about the same as the City of New York—has a hard time scratching a living out of the rocky, wind-swept hills which slope abruptly into the sea. And to discuss these problems, I went to see the man who has been Prime Minister longer than any other elected official in Greek history, Constantine Caramanlis.

Period Of Achievement

Perhaps because modern Greece has been so energetic in practicing democracy, she has permitted only three Greek Prime Ministers to remain four years in office since 1860. Caramanlis is one of them. At the end of his present term he will have served eight years, and a total of 15 years in Parliament.

The man who accomplished this record is the son of a schoolteacher who grew up in Turkish Greece where he learned the problem of precarious existance. He is handsome, vigorous, charming, and aside from his bristling eyebrows which have grayed a bit, doesn't look any older than when I saw him three years ago just as he was about to receive President Eisenhower on Ike's tour of the Near East and India.

"We are making great progress," the Prime Minister told me. "But we are in a period where we must achieve our goals or else fall back. We cannot stand still.

"I have set up a five-year plan which calls for reclamation, electrification, highways, other public works, bringing water to villages which have never had water before, improving our education. But this plan requires $200,000,000 a year, of which I am taking $50,000,000 out of our regular budget, borrowing $50,000,000 at home and want to borrow $100,000,000 from the United States, France, and West Germany—or wherever I can get it.

"But I haven't been able to get it."

End Of U. S. Aid

The question that brought this answer was one I had asked and which many Greeks are now asking—namely, what will be the effect of cutting off American aid?

Actually, Greece has been getting only driblets of American aid in recent years—$20,000,000 last year, chiefly in surplus farm products. But this is the first year without any U. S. aid, and the cut-off came simultaneously with American attempts to work out help for Greece from West Germany and more prosperous Marshall Plan countries—so far not forthcoming. But the cut-off also came simultaneously with a concerted political drive against the pro-American Premier by his enemies in Parliament.

"So the psychological impact," said Caramanlis, "has been considerable.

"Some countries use blackmail to secure American aid," the Prime minister continued. "They want the American fire department to come and put out the fires of Communism.

"I could light some fires, but I don't. I could yell Communism, but I don't. We are the only NATO country surrounded on three sides by Communist countries—Albania on the northwest, Yugoslavia on the north, and Bulgaria on the east. But I am not yelling for help. We are extremely grateful for your country's great help in the past, and would have no great problems were it not for our heavy military budget in order to pull our oar in NATO."

"Have you been invited to Moscow?" I asked.

"Yes, about every six months or so, I get sounded out about making a pilgrimage to Moscow, but I have not gone," was the reply.

"What became of that Soviet offer to buy all the surplus Greek farm production?" I asked, referring to a proposal made through the Premier's enemy, ex-Premier Venizelos, to buy all the extra raisins, olive oil, and other Greek farm products which are hard to sell.

"We have never accepted it," Caramanlis replied

Such are the problems of the country once on the verge of Communism, the first country the United States aided, even before the Marshall Plan. The problems continue, but, in contrast to the bitter days of postwar turmoil, Greece has become a model of efficient democracy.

Narcotics Addiction

By Helen B. Shaffer

WASHINGTON—The long-standing controversy over drug addiction — is it a crime or is it a disease?—appears headed for a compromise settlement. Harshly punitive measures for traffickers in drugs will remain on the books; the federal law, and many state laws, prescribe long mandatory prison terms and prohibit probation or parole. But there is a trend toward more sympathetic handling of the non-criminal addict, or the addict who resorts only to petty crime to support his habit. For the latter, there is already a federal hospitalization program designed not only to terminate the addict's physical dependence on narcotics but also to so change his outlook on life that he will not be tempted to go back to drugs after he has been freed from medical and police supervision.

The depressing truth about the hospital program is that it has failed to prevent the vast majority of those who have taken the treatment at one of the two Public Health Service narcotic hospitals, at Lexington, Ky., and Fort Worth, Texas, from slipping back into the drug habit. A recent survey showed that more than 90 per cent of 2,000 former Lexington patients living in New York City had become re-addicted, and that most of them had started taking drugs again within six months after they left the hospital.

The relapsed addicts went back on narcotics for the same reason that they had begun taking them in the first place: a basic emotional disorder which rendered them incapable of coping with life's daily problems. This, at least, is the prevailing view of medical authorities. Ending the physical dependence on drugs is relatively easy; curing the emotional disorder which makes the individual seek escape from his troubles is another matter.

The key to permanent eradication of the drug habit is now believed to lie in provision of a lengthy period of supervised rehabilitation in the "cured" addict's home community. This phase of the treatment program has been the least developed to date. However, several states where the addiction problem is acute have undertaken special programs of intensive case work with former addicts, offering them psychiatric therapy, help in finding jobs, and similar services.

Programs of this kind in California and New York, the two states which harbor three-fifths of the estimated 60,000 addicts in the country, have been undertaken under the parole system. Experts believe that because of the emotional immaturity of the typical addict and his susceptibility to relapse, he needs the strong arm of authority to lean on during the readjustment to normal life.

Under ordinary parole procedures, a parolee who was found to have taken a single "shot" of narcotics was immediately returned to prison. Under the new program, setbacks of this kind are expected. The former addict may be "forgiven" one or two slips if the officer feels that he has a good chance of making a permanent recovery without danger to the community. More than one-third of the parolees so treated in the first three years the New York program was in operation made a satisfactory adjustment.

Rehabilitative services of this kind, however, are not available to the large majority of addicts, many of whom are serving long prison terms for narcotics offenses. Authorities now feel that a sharper distinction should be made between the addict who is primarily a victim of drugs and the criminal trafficker who happens also to be an addict. In the case of an addict who "pushes" dope at the lowest level of the illicit market to get money to support his habit, the distinction may be difficult to make.

Critics of the federal narcotics laws object to the harsh penalties they prescribe for addicts and traffickers alike. The director of the federal Bureau of Prisons, James V. Bennett, is among those who consider the long sentences—in some cases 40 years or even life—a "travesty of our concepts of justice." He objects particularly to the ban on parole and probation, which removes any incentive for rehabilitation and overloads the penal institutions.

Pending legislation points in the direction of more sympathetic handling of addicts. Several bills would provide additional hospital facilities, including a new federal institution in the New York metropolitan area; the bills would provide also for federal financing in part of a complete course of treatment, including post-hospital rehabilitation services. Another measure would authorize hospital commitment, under civil procedures, of addicts charged with minor offenses; after an addict so committed had been certified as fully cured by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, criminal charges against him would be dismissed. A state law of this kind was adopted in New York last spring.

West Germany with 8,759 "millionaires" now has just twice as many as that country did five years ago. However, that's not figured in U.S. dollars. These are just high-ranking marks-men.

Health Officials Urge Continued Battle On Polio

Inoculation Level Termed Too Low

By JERRY BEIGEL
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Department officials keep issuing reminders that the long battle against polio has not yet been won, despite growing use of Salk and Sabin vaccines.

But they admit they are sometimes discouraged with the results when, for example, they find less than one out of three persons in a given area willing to take free shots to guard against the dreaded disease.

State Health Director N. H. Dyer noted that only 1,455 persons availed themselves of the department's services during the initial phase of an immunization campaign in Lincoln County July 24-25. Yet Dyer said that about 5,000 county residents need either booster shots or the whole series of Salk injections.

Lincoln County was the place where a four-year-old boy died of polio on July 9.

Break Infection Chain

The department has repeatedly emphasized that 80 per cent of the population should be inoculated "to break the chain of infection" in case polio should break out. It estimates that about 60 per cent of the West Virginians under the age of 21 are immunized, with the percentage decreasing as the age level increases.

Department officials are not alarmed that the single Lincoln County polio case points to a polio epidemic. The official description of an epidemic is three cases, or two of one type, in a month. The state has recorded only three cases all year.

Yet the recent outbreak of the disease in Texas was cited by the department as an example of what easily could happen here because so large a number of residents are not protected by the Salk or Sabin vaccines.

A look at last year's record underlines the reality of the danger. At this time in 1961, only seven cases of polio had been recorded. But 27 more persons contracted the disease before the year was over, lending weight to fears in the Department that luck will not be enough to insure that polio has been conquered in the state.

More Clinics Set

The second in the series of four free immunization clinics will be conducted at Hamlin Grade School Aug. 21, and at Midkiff Aug. 22. The department urges all those who have not received the inoculations to begin to do so at that time.

Later dates set for completion of the clinic series are Sept. 18-19 and next March 19-20. For persons not able to attend the clinics on these dates, the department said arrangements could be worked out for them to complete the series at another time.

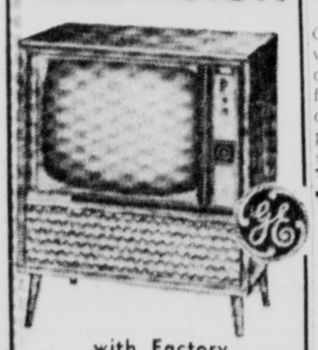

The department is not just concerned with Lincoln County. Dyer said the state has 100,000 doses of vaccine on hand now for use by anyone who desires immunization. He wanted it made clear that even if a special clinic was not set up in an individual's area, inability to pay the nominal sum for the vaccinations was not a bar to receiving them.

So far, Health Department officials feel, West Virginia's good record is partly a matter of good luck. They would feel more secure if it were based on a better immunization record.

GOP Conclave Opens Today In Charleston

Miller Will Be Principal Speaker

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia Republicans, 2,500 strong, gather here Saturday to choose a State Supreme Court nominee, adopt a statement of principles and hear speeches by party leaders including National Chairman William E. Miller.

The occasion is a judicial nominating convention necessitated by the death last May 11 of Judge Leslie E. Given. State law required that both parties hold conventions to choose candidates for the six-year unexpired term since Given died after the May primary election.

Keynote speaker at the convention, which will hear Miller give the principal address, is Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. of Moundsville, the state's only Republican congessman. About 2,000 delegates are expected to attend.

The convention was preceded Friday night by a statewide meeting of about 800 members of the Young Republican League headed by John Cremeans, Huntington, who also is scheduled to address the judicial convention. Many of the Young GOP members will remain for the convention, including some who will be convention delegates.

To Adopt Platform

Legislative candidates and party leaders will meet at the Civic Center at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to adopt a statement of party principle to serve as a guidance for the coming general election campaign.

The statement will be given to newsmen at a news conference at 11:30 a.m. The conference will be conducted by State GOP Chairman Howard V. Corcoran, House Minority Leader George H. Seibert Jr., Wheeling, and Senate Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, Sherrard.

The nominating convention opens at 1:30 p.m. Former State Chairman Daniel L. Louchery, Clarksburg, was named earlier to serve as permanent chairman.

Candidates for the convention were chosen last month at magisterial district meetings in the 55 counties.

The only major items of business will be selection of a Supreme Court nominee and speeches by Moore, Miller, Cremeans, Louchery and Leon P. Miller, Welch, and Mrs. William Watkins, South Charleston. Miller is former U.S. attorney for the Virgin Island. Mrs. Watkins will discuss the role of women in politics.

Withdraw Names

Two party leaders mentioned earlier as possible nominees — former Sen. Chapman Revercomb and 1960 gubernatorial nominee Harold E. Neely — have withdrawn their names from consideration.

Other whose names have been mentioned include James G. McClure, Wheeling; Hale Posten, Morgantown; Rupert Sinsel, Clarksburg, and Elizabeth Hallanan, Charleston. None has campaigned publicly for the nomination. No Republican has been elected to the state's highest court in more than 30 years.

West Virginia Democrats will hold their nominating convention here next Saturday, and are expected to choose Fred H. Caplan to run in November. Caplan, former chairman of the Public Service Commission, was named by Gov. W. W. Barron to replace Given on an interim basis pending the general election.

Food Stamp Plan To Be Expanded

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Some 35,000 to 40,000 West Virginians in Mingo, Logan and Wayne counties are expected to be eligible for food stamps under the expansion of the year-old federal program announced Thursday by President Kennedy.

The State Welfare Department said the three counties have 25,824 persons listed as welfare recipients, plus another 11,584 eligible only for surplus commodities. The former figure includes 10,427 persons in Logan County, 9,234 in Mingo and 6,163 in Wayne.

An estimated 15,000 would be eligible for food stamps in Logan County, 13,500 in Mingo and 9,000 in Wayne.

When the program was started on the experimental basis in McDowell and seven other areas around the nation, the number of persons eligible had been expected to be much higher. As a result of findings made during the certification in McDowell, the commodity distribution lists throughout the state were checked and reduced sharply.

Tucker County Schedules Vote On School Bond Issue

PARSONS — The Tucker County Board of Education met in special session recently and set Tuesday, August 21, as the date for the special school bond issue election.

The voters of Tucker County are being asked to decide by ballot whether or not a special $250,000 bond issue proposal will be passed for the construction of a new gymnasium adjacent to the present High School and for four additional classrooms at St. George School.

If the bond issue carries, approximately $198,000 of the amount will be used to construct and equip a new gymnasium in Parsons.

The present gymnasium is a wooden building covered with asbestos shingles, built in the mid 1930's by an individual for a public building.

There are two doors in the front of the building, each about 30 inches wide and set about 10 feet apart. There are two other exits in the building, both on the east side. One exit onto a wooden platform about 30 x 36 inches and is about two feet above the ground, near a fence. The other exit at the rear of the building opens into a narrow alley, near a fence.

The balconies have already been closed by the state fire marshal.

The floor space of the gymnasium is 94 by 50 feet, and the building is lighted by six very small windows.

There are several spots where the floor sags under the weight of a 130-pound person. The floor under the bleachers is bulging in a number of places.

Conditions in what is used as dressing room are termed appalling. There are two dressing rooms in the front of the building. One has two shower stalls and the other has one. There is no ventilation and the only window opens on U.S. Route 219 and cannot be opened at night.

There are no drinking fountains.

The gas bill last year for the gymnasium is reported to be $1,400. The building is heated by six gas units. There is no insulation.

The lighting is inadequate, officials report, and wires appear brittle and dried.

Transportation of students to and from the gymnasium is a problem, since it is one mile from the high school and it takes 10 minutes each way by bus, counting loading and unloading time. The physical education period is 45 minutes, leaving only 25 minutes for activity. There are five classes of 30 pupils per class, 150 students, 25 junior high boys, and 25 senior high boys, making a total of 200 persons using the gymnasium each day. The building is not for basketball alone; its most important function is physical education.

Football players must dress in the gymnasium, and if a gymnasium was adjacent to the high school and football field, players could dress there instead of using the present gymnasium, or the so-called field house.

If the gymnasium is not rebuilt the whole school program will suffer. Without a gymnasium, students cannot graduate from Parsons High School, as physical education is required to graduate. If the building is repaired, funds will have to be taken from general funds at the sacrifice of other things.

"It is not good business to repair this building," said Stelman Harper, county superintendent. He stressed that the most important items in considering a new gymnasium are the plumbing, heating, wiring and lighting, plus the inconvenience of traveling one mile to the gymnasium, as the health of the children is the most important thing to consider.

Romney Plans Bicentennial Days Aug. 8-11

ROMNEY — Romney is all set for the celebration of its 200th birthday during feature days, August 8-11th, with stage shows, concerts, parades, exhibits, contests, dances, tournament riding, fireworks, and a carnival's usual attractions.

In addition, a Western-style, pit barbecue will be open daily, as will a museum and points of historical interest.

A full schedule of events is planned for the entertainment of visitors, all of whom are invited to this modern little town of some 2,500 population in the scenic South Branch Valley.

Romney, by virtue of its chartering by the Virginia House of Burgesses in 1762, lays claim to the status of the Mountain State's oldest incorporated municipality.

The Bicentennial focuses light upon a progressive community that proudly boasts of a 40-bed hospital, post office, swimming pool, super market, store and office buildings. Topping all that is the central high school to be started in September.

The Grand Feature Parade at 2 p.m. (EDT), August 11, sponsored by the Romney Lions Club, will include the "Old Guard" Fife and Drum Corps of Ft. Myer; the Metropolitan Police Band of Washington; 15 bands, a dozen floats, 15 marching units, four uniformed Civil War outfits, an oxen-drawn covered wagon, and 50 antique cars.

The "Romney Revue of '62," will be staged the evenings of August 8 and 10 on the campus of the West Virginia Schools for the Deaf and Blind.

The Police Band will present a concert at 5:30 p.m. August 11, and the big birthday party closes with the Queen's Ball that evening.

Health Officials Urge Continued Battle On Polio

Inoculation Level Termed Too Low

By JERRY BEIGEL
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Department officials keep issuing reminders that the long battle against polio has not yet been won, despite growing use of Salk and Sabin vaccines.

But they admit they are sometimes discouraged with the results when, for example, they find less than one out of three persons in a given area willing to take free shots to guard against the dreaded disease.

State Health Director N. H. Dyer noted that only 1,455 persons availed themselves of the department's services during the initial phase of an immunization campaign in Lincoln County July 24-25. Yet Dyer said that about 5,000 county residents need either booster shots or the whole series of Salk injections.

Lincoln County was the place where a four-year-old boy died of polio on July 9.

Break Infection Chain

The department has repeatedly emphasized that 80 per cent of the population should be inoculated "to break the chain of infection" in case polio should break out. It estimates that about 60 per cent of the West Virginians under the age of 21 are immunized, with the percentage decreasing as the age level increases.

Department officials are not alarmed that the single Lincoln County polio case points to a polio epidemic. The official description of an epidemic is three cases, or two of one type, in a month. The state has recorded only three cases all year.

Yet the recent outbreak of the disease in Texas was cited by the department as an example of what easily could happen here because so large a number of residents are not protected by the Salk or Sabin vaccines.

A look at last year's record underlines the reality of the danger. At this time in 1961, only seven cases of polio had been recorded. But 27 more persons contracted the disease before the year was over, lending weight to fears in the Department that luck will not be enough to insure that polio has been conquered in the state.

More Clinics Set

The second in the series of four free immunization clinics will be conducted at Hamlin Grade School Aug. 21, and at Midkiff Aug. 22. The department urges all those who have not received the inoculations to begin to do so at that time.

Later dates set for completion of the clinic series are Sept. 18-19 and next March 19-20. For persons not able to attend the clinics on these dates, the department said arrangements could be worked out for them to complete the series at another time.

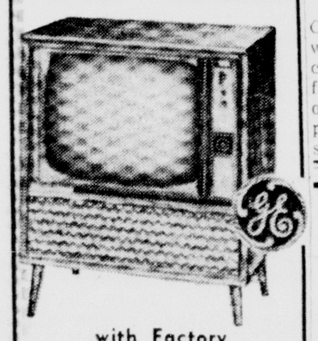

The department is not just concerned with Lincoln County. Dyer said the state has 100,000 doses of vaccine on hand now for use by anyone who desires immunization. He wanted it made clear that even if a special clinic was not set up in an individual's area, inability to pay the nominal sum for the vaccinations was not a bar to receiving them.

So far, Health Department officials feel, West Virginia's good record is partly a matter of good luck. They would feel more secure if it were based on a better immunization record.

GOP Conclave Opens Today In Charleston

Miller Will Be Principal Speaker

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia Republicans, 2,500 strong, gather here Saturday to choose a State Supreme Court nominee, adopt a statement of principles and hear speeches by party leaders including National Chairman William E. Miller.

The occasion is a judicial nominating convention necessitated by the death last May 11 of Judge Leslie E. Given. State law required that both parties hold conventions to choose candidates for the six-year unexpired term since Given died after the May primary election.

Keynote speaker at the convention, which will hear Miller give the principal address, is Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. of Moundsville, the state's only Republican congessman. About 2,000 delegates are expected to attend.

The convention was preceded Friday night by a statewide meeting of about 800 members of the Young Republican League headed by John Cremeans, Huntington, who also is scheduled to address the judicial convention. Many of the Young GOP members will remain for the convention, including some who will be convention delegates.

To Adopt Platform

Legislative candidates and party leaders will meet at the Civic Center at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to adopt a statement of party principle to serve as a guidance for the coming general election campaign.

The statement will be given to newsmen at a news conference at 11:30 a.m. The conference will be conducted by State GOP Chairman Howard V. Corcoran, House Minority Leader George H. Seibert Jr., Wheeling, and Senate Minority Leader John E. Carrigan, Sherrard.

The nominating convention opens at 1:30 p.m. Former State Chairman Daniel L. Louchery, Clarksburg, was named earlier to serve as permanent chairman.

Candidates for the convention were chosen last month at magisterial district meetings in the 55 counties.

The only major items of business will be selection of a Supreme Court nominee and speeches by Moore, Miller, Cremeans, Louchery and Leon P. Miller, Welch, and Mrs. William Watkins, South Charleston. Miller is former U.S. attorney for the Virgin Island. Mrs. Watkins will discuss the role of women in politics.

Withdraw Names

Two party leaders mentioned earlier as possible nominees — former Sen. Chapman Revercomb and 1960 gubernatorial nominee Harold E. Neely — have withdrawn their names from consideration.

Other whose names have been mentioned include James G. McClure, Wheeling; Hale Posten, Morgantown; Rupert Sinsel, Clarksburg, and Elizabeth Hallanan, Charleston. None has campaigned publicly for the nomination. No Republican has been elected to the state's highest court in more than 30 years.

West Virginia Democrats will hold their nominating convention here next Saturday, and are expected to choose Fred H. Caplan to run in November. Caplan, former chairman of the Public Service Commission, was named by Gov. W. W. Barron to replace Given on an interim basis pending the general election.

Food Stamp Plan To Be Expanded

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Some 35,000 to 40,000 West Virginians in Mingo, Logan and Wayne counties are expected to be eligible for food stamps under the expansion of the year-old federal program announced Thursday by President Kennedy.

The State Welfare Department said the three counties have 25,824 persons listed as welfare recipients, plus another 11,584 eligible only for surplus commodities. The former figure includes 10,427 persons in Logan County, 9,234 in Mingo and 6,163 in Wayne.

An estimated 15,000 would be eligible for food stamps in Logan County, 13,500 in Mingo and 9,000 in Wayne.

When the program was started on the experimental basis in McDowell and seven other areas around the nation, the number of persons eligible had been expected to be much higher. As a result of findings made during the certification in McDowell, the commodity distribution lists throughout the state were checked and reduced sharply.

Tucker County Schedules Vote On School Bond Issue

PARSONS — The Tucker County Board of Education met in special session recently and set Tuesday, August 21, as the date for the special school bond issue election.

The voters of Tucker County are being asked to decide by ballot whether or not a special $250,000 bond issue proposal will be passed for the construction of a new gymnasium adjacent to the present High School and for four additional classrooms at St. George School.

If the bond issue carrigs, approximately $198,000 of the amount will be used to construct and equip a new gymnasium in Parsons.

The present gymnasium is a wooden building covered with asbestos shingles, built in the mid 1930's by an individual for a public building.

There are two doors in the front of the building, each about 30 inches wide and set about 10 feet apart. There are two other exits in the building, both on the east side. One exit onto a wooden platform about 30 x 36 inches and is about two feet above the ground, near a fence. The other exit at the rear of the building opens into a narrow alley, near a fence.

The balconies have already been closed by the state fire marshal.

The floor space of the gymnasium is 94 by 50 feet, and the building is lighted by six very small windows.

There are several spots where the floor sags under the weight of a 130-pound person. The floor under the bleachers is bulging in a number of places.

Conditions in what is used as dressing room are termed appalling. There are two dressing rooms in the front of the building. One has two shower stalls and the other has one. There is no ventilation and the only window opens on U.S. Route 219 and cannot be opened at night.

There are no drinking fountains.

The gas bill last year for the gymnasium is reported to be $1,400. The building is heated by six gas units. There is no insulation.

The lighting is inadequate, officials report, and wires appear brittle and dried.

Transportation of students to and from the gymnasium is a problem, since it is one mile from the high school and it takes 10 minutes each way by bus, counting loading and unloading time. The physical education period is 45 minutes, leaving only 25 minutes for activity. There are five classes of 30 pupils per class, 150 students, 25 junior high boys, and 25 senior high boys, making a total of 200 persons using the gymnasium each day. The building is not for basketball alone; its most important function is physical education.

Football players must dress in the gymnasium, and if a gymnasium was adjacent to the high school and football field, players could dress there instead of using the present gymnasium, or the so-called field house.

If the gymnasium is not rebuilt the whole school program will suffer. Without a gymnasium, students cannot graduate from Parsons High School, as physical education is required to graduate. If the building is repaired, funds will have to be taken from general funds at the sacrifice of other things.

"It is not good business to repair this building," said Stelman Harper, county superintendent. He stressed that the most important items in considering a new gymnasium are the plumbing, heating, wiring and lighting, plus the inconvenience of traveling one mile to the gymnasium, as the health of the children is the most important thing to consider.

Fort Cumberland Defeats Essex Post In State Legion Game, 9-5

Long, Manges Star In 2nd Tourney Win

Mike Gets 4 Hits, Ronnie Goes Route; Next Game Sunday

Michael Long's slugging and the steady pitching of Ronnie Manges was too much for Essex Post of Baltimore County and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 registered its second straight victory in the Maryland Department American Legion junior baseball tournament yesterday at College Park by the score of 9-5.

Wicomico Post of Salisbury, defeated by Cumberland on Thursday by the score of 6-5 in ten innings, remained in the running by eliminating Latimar Post of Takoma Park, 8-6, in Friday's morning contest. It was the second straight setback for the Montgomery countians in the double elimination tourney. Essex whipped Takoma Park Thursday by the score of 14-5.

Cumberland Plays Sunday

Essex and Salisbury will clash today at 1 p.m. with the winner going against Fort Cumberland Sunday at 1 o'clock. If Cumberland wins three in a row it will qualify for the regional tournament next weekend at College Park. In event the victor in today's game wins over Cumberland in the 1 p.m. game tomorrow, the second game will be played 20 minutes after the first contest is concluded to determine the regional qualifier.

Fort Cumberland Post built up a commanding 8-0 in the first five innings of yesterday's game and went on to notch its 9th victory in ten starts this season.

Cox Starts Fireworks

Jimmie Cox set up the Western Marylander's first score in the opening frame when he doubled to left field. He crossed the platter later when Long beat out an infield hit, his first of four for the afternoon.

Roger Flanagan walked to open the second frame, swiped second base moved to third on the catcher's overthrow and came home when the centerfielder threw wildly to the infield.

Long Hits 3-Run Homer

Bill Norris beat out an infield hit to launch Cumberland's third inning rally which produced three runs. After Norris pilfered second, Cox drew a pass. Both runners advanced a base when catcher Kroe threw wildly in an attempt to pick off Norris at second. Long then gave Fort Cumberland Post a 5-0 lead when he belted a three-run homer to right field.

The Mountain District champions added three more tallies in the fifth inning by grouping four hits with a wild throw and stolen base. Cox beat out a hit to short and took second when the shortstop heaved the ball past first base. Long delivered a single to center which scored Cox and the Cumberland first baseman advanced to second on the throw-in. With two out, Charles "Butch" Cross singled, scoring Long. After Cross stole second, Roger Flanagan pounded a double to center to drive in the third run of the inning.

No Hitter Until 6th

Ronnie Manges held Essex without a hit until the 6th inning when the Baltimore countians scored two runs. Tony Napier singled to left, took second on a passed ball and reached third on John Pederson's wallop to left. John Fleming smacked a single to center to account for both tallies.

Fort Cumberland made it 9-2 in the 6th when Norris was safe on an error, stole second, moved to third on Long's single through short and crossed the plate when he and Long worked a double steal.

Essex Post collected its third and fourth tallies in the top of the 7th when Rex Frost, pinch-hitting for Harmel, belted a single to right field and scored ahead of McMullen, who clouted a home run to right-center.

In the 8th stanza, Pederson drew a pass, stole second, reached third on an error and scored Essex's final run when Porter was safe on an error.

Manges yielded eight hits in going the distance, struck out four and gave up three bases on balls.

Winners Get 11 Hits

Fort Cumberland collected 11 hits off four hurlers with Long setting the pace with a homer and three singles in five trips and five RBIs. Norris and Cox had two safeties.

The fielding highlight was provided by Shortstop Roland Hamilton, who speared a fly on the dead run in the outfield in the 9th inning with one out and one runner aboard.

In the morning game, Salisbury enjoyed a 6-run outburst in the third inning featured by back-to-back triples by Mike Hoch and Howard Wilson. But it took an unearned run in the 7th for Wicomico to prevail against a late rally.

The winning run was scored off pitcher Sonny Novak who otherwise had stopped Wicomico cold after relieving in the fourth inning. Wilson went around the bases for the decisive tally on a single, error, theft of third and a passed ball.

Latimar Post scored three times in the bottom of the 7th on two hits and three wild pitches by Hoch. Harvey Massey went to the mound for the Eastern Shore team and retired seven Takoma Park batters in order to save the game.

David Mahan Retains Lead In Rebel Class Boat Races

Frommes Trailing, 110½ To 107¼ At Deep Creek Lake

By DAVID MURRIE

SWANTON, Md. — Two of the most highly competitive crews in small boat sailing fought it out here Friday in the third of five races for the national Rebel Class championship.

At the end, David C. Mahan, 20-year-old Morgantown, W. Va., skipper, and his crew, Kenton B. Farrell, of Cumberland, Md., prevailed over Edward and Ludwig Fromme, of the Toledo (Ohio) Sailing Club, sending the membership of the host, The Deep Creek Yacht Club, into hopes that Mahan would retain the national title he won last year on Lake Erie.

The veteran Fromme brothers lost a gallant fight in the closing 1,000 yards of the race, giving way to a relentless pressure of the intensity of the little Marine reservist and his steady, mature crew. The Frommes, well-liked competitors at this club for many years, led throughout the race, yielding only when the field of 36 boats rounded the final mark and swung for home. But Mahan had been well up and swept to a late lead. He won by ten boat lengths, going away.

Mahan's point score margin over the Fromme brothers at the end of the second day of racing was 110½ to 107¼ under a scoring system that gives a point and a quarter for a win, a point for starting, a point for finishing and a point for every boat defeated. Mahan was second in Thursday's first race and won the second. The Frommes had a first and fourth Thursday.

Mrs. Bobbe Herndon, of the Island Bay Yacht Club, Springfield, Ill., remained in contention with a point score of 103, gained from two third places Thursday and a fifth place Friday.

Dr. Leon Striegel, the Rebel class commodore-elect, of the Crab Orchard Lake Sailing Club of Carbondale, Ill., was making a fight of the national championship, holding 96 points from a fifth and a seventh Thursday and a sixth Friday.

Also a possible threat to the front-running speedsters was Vic Rowe, of the Baw Beese Sailing Club of Hillsdale, Mich., whose third place Friday was a marked improvement over his 15th place in the first place and his fifth in the second event.

The national championships will be concluded and decided with two races Saturday, made necessary by postponement of Friday's morning race because of lack of wind.

Salim 3-1 Choice Over Ohio Boxer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Young Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure — soldier, teacher and former Olympic champion—seeks his 10th straight professional victory Saturday night in his first main event, pitting him against middleweight Farid Salim of Argentina at Madison Square Garden.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EDT.

McClure of Toledo, Ohio, says definitely he is not attempting a main event too soon because neither Joe Louis nor Cassius Clay ever fought in a preliminary, and Floyd Patterson fought in only four supporting bouts.

However, Skeeter's confidence is not reflected in the betting odds which favor lanky, 26-year-old Salim at 3-1 because of his greater experience in 38 fights and because of his hand-speed and ruggedness.

Violators Pay $2,496

One hundred and forty-two persons paid $2,496.25 for violations of the state game and fish laws during June, acording to figures released today by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Seventy of the 88 persons arrested were fined for fishing without a license.

Thirteen boat cases were made in Garrett, Washington and Montgomery Counties; five were for towing skiers without an observer aboard, four for inadequate life-saving equipment, two for not having boat license and two for operating boat in negligent manner. Boat fines collected amounted to $188.20.

Bass Are Elusive

Recent returns of metal strapped fish tags to the central office of the Department of Game and Inland Fish indicate that largemouth bass do elude fishermen and frequently live more than three years before they are caught, from the time of their stocking in Maryland lakes.

Mr. Rae Worden of Preston, Maryland, returned seven tags taken from largemouth bass, one tag was released in October, 1959, one in April, 1960, one in October, 1960, and four in November, 1961.

Old Germans Top Black Label, 6-5

The Old Germans scored five runs in the second inning, then pushed over the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Dick Rudolph in the sixth to edge Carling's Black Label, 6-5, yesterday in a Rec Softball League battle at Naval Reserve field.

Rudolph's long fly to left scored Manager Jimmy Dunn who had opened the frame with a single and gone to third on another base hit.

Loser Joe Biggs suffered control trouble, walking six batters in the big inning when the Old Germans scored five times. Winner Al Largent held Black Label to four hits including a pair of singles to Bob Steckman. George Bishields and Fay Often banged out two-baggers for the Old Germans. Bishields also collected a single for the winners. The results:

Orioles Top Angels, 6-3

Crack McBride's Winning Streak

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles exploded for six runs in the seventh inning Friday night to break pitcher Ken McBride's winning streak of 10 games and end his skein of scoreless innings at 27 in a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

It was McBride's first loss since April 27. McBride had a three-hit shutout going and struck out Jim Gentile to open the seventh. He then gave up a single to Brooks Robinson and a double to John Powell.

Pinchhitter Whitey Herzog then walked, loading the bases. Hobie Landrith's force-out grounder scored Robinson and made it 3-1 for the Angels. McBride then reloaded the bases, hitting pinch - hitter Charley Lau.

McBride was replaced by Dan Osinski, who walked Jerry Adair to force in the second Oriole run and Russ Snyder followed with a two-run single. Bob Botz came on to pitch and gave up a two-run single to Jackie Brandt before retiring Gentile to end the inning.

Fort Cumberland Defeats Essex Post In State Legion Game, 9-5

Long, Manges Star In 2nd Tourney Win

Mike Gets 4 Hits, Ronnie Goes Route; Next Game Sunday

Michael Long's slugging and the steady pitching of Ronnie Manges was too much for Essex Post of Baltimore County and Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 registered its second straight victory in the Maryland Department American Legion junior baseball tournament yesterday at College Park by the score of 9-5.

Wicomico Post of Salisbury, defeated by Cumberland on Thursday by the score of 6-5 in ten innings, remained in the running by eliminating Latimar Post of Takoma Park, 8-6, in Friday's morning contest. It was the second straight setback for the Montgomery countians in the double elimination tourney. Essex whipped Takoma Park Thursday by the score of 14-5.

Cumberland Plays Sunday

Essex and Salisbury will clash today at 1 p.m. with the winner going against Fort Cumberland Sunday at 1 o'clock. If Cumberland wins three in a row it will qualify for the regional tournament next weekend at College Park. In event the victor in today's game wins over Cumberland in the 1 p.m. game tomorrow, the second game will be played 20 minutes after the first contest is concluded to determine the regional qualifier.

Fort Cumberland Post built up a commanding 8-0 in the first five innings of yesterday's game and went on to notch its 9th victory in ten starts this season.

Cox Starts Fireworks

Jimmie Cox set up the Western Marylander's first score in the opening frame when he doubled to left field. He crossed the platter later when Long beat out an infield hit, his first of four for the afternoon.

Roger Flanagan walked to open the second frame, swiped second base moved to third on the catcher's overthrow and came home when the centerfielder threw wildly to the infield.

Long Hits 3-Run Homer

Bill Norris beat out an infield hit to launch Cumberland's third inning rally which produced three runs. After Norris pilfered second, Cox drew a pass. Both runners advanced a base when catcher Kroe threw wildly in an attempt to pick off Norris at second. Long then gave Fort Cumberland Post a 5-0 lead when he belted a three-run homer to right field.

The Mountain District champions added three more tallies in the fifth inning by grouping four hits with a wild throw and stolen base. Cox beat out a hit to short and took second when the shortstop heaved the ball past first base. Long delivered a single to center which scored Cox and the Cumberland first baseman advanced to second on the throw-in. With two out, Charles "Butch" Cross singled, scoring Long. After Cross stole second, Roger Flanagan pounded a double to center to drive in the third run of the inning.

No Hitter Until 6th

Ronnie Manges held Essex without a hit until the 6th inning when the Baltimore countians scored two runs. Tony Napier singled to left, took second on a passed ball and reached third on John Pederson's wallop to left. John Fleming smacked a single to center to account for both tallies.

Fort Cumberland made it 9-2 in the 6th when Norris was safe on an error, stole second, moved to third on Long's single through short and crossed the plate when he and Long worked a double steal.

Essex Post collected its third and fourth tallies in the top of the 7th when Rex Frost, pinch-hitting for Harmel, belted a single to right field and scored ahead of McMullen, who clouted a home run to right-center.

In the 8th stanza, Pederson drew a pass, stole second, reached third on an error and scored Essex's final run when Porter was safe on an error.

Manges yielded eight hits in going the distance, struck out four and gave up three bases on balls.

Winners Get 11 Hits

Fort Cumberland collected 11 hits off four hurlers with Long setting the pace with a homer and three singles in five trips and five RBIs. Norris and Cox had two safeties.

The fielding highlight was provided by Shortstop Roland Hamilton, who speared a fly on the dead run in the outfield in the 9th inning with one out and one runner aboard.

In the morning game, Salisbury enjoyed a 6-run outburst in the third inning featured by back-to-back triples by Mike Hoch and Howard Wilson. But it took an unearned run in the 7th for Wicomico to prevail against a late rally.

The winning run was scored off pitcher Sonny Novak who otherwise had stopped Wicomico cold after relieving in the fourth inning. Wilson went around the bases for the decisive tally on a single, error, theft of third and a passed ball.

Latimar Post scored three times in the bottom of the 7th on two hits and three wild pitches by Hoch. Harvey Massey went to the mound for the Eastern Shore team and retired seven Takoma Park batters in order to save the game.

Charlie Neal and Marv Throneberry also hit bases-empty homers off Red starter Joey Jay, while Clarence Coleman of the Mets hit a pinch home run on the first pitch thrown by reliever Jim Brosnan in the seventh.

David Mahan Retains Lead In Rebel Class Boat Races

Frommes Trailing, 110½ To 107¼ At Deep Creek Lake

By DAVID MURRIE

SWANTON, Md. — Two of the most highly competitive crews in small boat sailing fought it out here Friday in the third of five races for the national Rebel Class championship.

At the end, David C. Mahan, 20-year-old Morgantown, W. Va., skipper, and his crew, Kenton B. Farrell, of Cumberland, Md., prevailed over Edward and Ludwig Fromme, of the Toledo (Ohio) Sailing Club, sending the membership of the host, The Deep Creek Yacht Club, into hopes that Mahan would retain the national title he won last year on Lake Erie.

The veteran Fromme brothers lost a gallant fight in the closing 1,000 yards of the race, giving way to a relentless pressure of the intensity of the little Marine reservist and his steady, mature crew. The Frommes, well-liked competitors at this club for many years, led throughout the race, yielding only when the field of 36 boats rounded the final mark and swung for home. But Mahan had been well up and swept to a late lead. He won by ten boat lengths, going away.

Mahan's point score margin over the Fromme brothers at the end of the second day of racing was 110½ to 107¼ under a scoring system that gives a point and a quarter for a win, a point for starting, a point for finishing and a point for every boat defeated. Mahan was second in Thursday's first race and won the second. The Frommes had a first and fourth Thursday.

Mrs. Bobbe Herndon, of the Island Bay Yacht Club, Springfield, Ill., remained in contention with a point score of 103, gained from two third places Thursday and a fifth place Friday.

Dr. Leon Striegel, the Rebel class commodore-elect, of the Crab Orchard Lake Sailing Club of Carbondale, Ill., was making a fight of the national championship, holding 96 points from a fifth and a seventh Thursday and a sixth Friday.

Also a possible threat to the front-running speedsters was Vic Rowe, of the Baw Beese Sailing Club of Hillsdale, Mich., whose third place Friday was a marked improvement over his 15th place in the first place and his fifth in the second event.

The national championships will be concluded and decided with two races Saturday, made necessary by postponement of Friday's morning race because of lack of wind.

Salim 3-1 Choice Over Ohio Boxer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Young Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure — soldier, teacher and former Olympic champion—seeks his 10th straight professional victory Saturday night in his first main event, pitting him against middleweight Farid Salim of Argentina at Madison Square Garden.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EDT.

McClure of Toledo, Ohio, says definitely he is not attempting a main event too soon because neither Joe Louis nor Cassius Clay ever fought in a preliminary, and Floyd Patterson fought in only four supporting bouts.

However, Skeeter's confidence is not reflected in the betting odds which favor lanky, 26-year-old Salim at 3-1 because of his greater experience in 38 fights and because of his hand-speed and ruggedness.

Violators Pay $2,496

One hundred and forty-two persons paid $2,496.25 for violations of the state game and fish laws during June, acording to figures released today by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Seventy of the 88 persons arrested were fined for fishing without a license.

Thirteen boat cases were made in Garrett, Washington and Montgomery Counties; five were for towing skiers without an observer aboard, four for inadequate life-saving equipment, two for not having boat license and two for operating boat in negligent manner. Boat fines collected amounted to $188.20.

Bass Are Elusive

Recent returns of metal strapped fish tags to the central office of the Department of Game and Inland Fish indicate that largemouth bass do elude fishermen and frequently live more than three years before they are caught, from the time of their stocking in Maryland lakes.

Mr. Rae Worden of Preston, Maryland, returned seven tags taken from largemouth bass, one tag was released in October, 1959, one in April, 1960, one in October, 1960, and four in November, 1961.

Old Germans Top Black Label, 6-5

The Old Germans scored five runs in the second inning, then pushed over the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Dick Rudolph in the sixth to edge Carling's Black Label, 6-5, yesterday in a Rec Softball League battle at Naval Reserve field.

Rudolph's long fly to left scored Manager Jimmy Dunn who had opened the frame with a single and gone to third on another base hit.

Loser Joe Biggs suffered control trouble, walking six batters in the big inning when the Old Germans scored five times. Winner Al Largent held Black Label to four hits including a pair of singles to Bob Steckman. George Bishields and Fay Often banged out two-baggers for the Old Germans. Bishields also collected a single for the winners. The results:

Orioles Top Angels, 6-3

Crack McBride's Winning Streak

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles exploded for six runs in the seventh inning Friday night to break pitcher Ken McBride's winning streak of 10 games and end his skein of scoreless innings at 27 in a 6-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

It was McBride's first loss since April 27. McBride had a three-hit shutout going and struck out Jim Gentile to open the seventh. He then gave up a single to Brooks Robinson and a double to John Powell.

Pinchhitter Whitey Herzog then walked, loading the bases. Hobie Landrith's force-out grounder scored Robinson and made it 3-1 for the Angels. McBride then reloaded the bases, hitting pinch-hitter Charley Lau.

McBride was replaced by Dan Osinski, who walked Jerry Adair to force in the second Oriole run and Russ Snyder followed with a two-run single. Bob Botz came on to pitch and gave up a two-run single to Jackie Brandt before retiring Gentile to end the inning.

Barber, Hawkins Ill With Fever

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Steve Barber of the Baltimore Orioles and Halfback Alex Hawkins of the Baltimore Colts were in Union Memorial Hospital Friday with mystifying fevers.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, physician for both teams, said tests so far have failed to show what is causing both athletes to have prolonged high fevers.

Barber has reported recurrent fever for three weeks. Hawkins has been bothered since the Colt training camp started July 23.

Dr. Mayer said diagnosis to date ruled out infectious mononucleosis.

Barber, Hawkins Ill With Fever

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Steve Barber of the Baltimore Orioles and Halfback Alex Hawkins of the Baltimore Colts were in Union Memorial Hospital Friday with mystifying fevers.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, physician for both teams, said tests so far have failed to show what is causing both athletes to have prolonged high fevers.

Barber has reported recurrent fever for three weeks. Hawkins has been bothered since the Colt training camp started July 23.

Dr. Mayer said diagnosis to date ruled out infectious mononucleosis.

Market Posts Seventh Gain In Eight Sessions

NEW YORK (UPI) —Late buying handed the stock market its seventh gain in the last eight sessions Friday.

Prices cruised narrowly in dull dealings until the final hour when trading picked up as prices rose. Nevertheless a total of only 2,990,000 shares changed hands against 3,410,000 on Thursday.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index scored a meager gain of 0.14 in the Dow-Jones averages, industrials rose 2.55, rails 0.54 and utilities 0.34.

A narrow total of 1,200 issues were traded during the session. Of these 523 advanced, four to new highs, and 399 declined, 12 to new lows for the year.

Despite the late advance, brokers felt many market interests had held off Friday, hoping a clearer picture would develop over the weekend or whether the President could, if he desired, push a quickie tax cut through Congress. There were mounting indications that he could not.

General Motors topped the market in activity with a gain of ⅜ to 59,500 shares. It was followed in volume by Rexall up ⅛—most of its trading consisting of a large 22,500-share block—Curtiss-Wright up ¼, and Grayson-Robinson Stores off 1½ to 6⅛, a new low for the year, on unconfirmed rumors the company was filing for bankruptcy.

Market Posts Seventh Gain In Eight Sessions

NEW YORK (UPI) —Late buying handed the stock market its seventh gain in the last eight sessions Friday.

Prices cruised narrowly in dull dealings until the final hour when trading picked up as prices rose. Nevertheless a total of only 2,990,000 shares changed hands against 3,410,000 on Thursday.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index scored a meager gain of 0.14 in the Dow-Jones averages, industrials rose 2.55, rails 0.54 and utilities 0.34.

A narrow total of 1,200 issues were traded during the session. Of these 523 advanced, four to new highs, and 399 declined, 12 to new lows for the year.

Despite the late advance, brokers felt many market interests had held off Friday, hoping a clearer picture would develop over the weekend or whether the President could, if he desired, push a quickie tax cut through Congress. There were mounting indications that he could not.

General Motors topped the market in activity with a gain of ⅜ to 59,500 shares. It was followed in volume by Rexall up ⅛—most of its trading consisting of a large 22,500-share block—Curtiss-Wright up ¼, and Grayson-Robinson Stores off 1½ to 6⅛, a new low for the year, on unconfirmed rumors the company was filing for bankruptcy.

Cards Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so thoughtful and kind during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, C. Fred Beaman. We especially thank the ministers who visited our father during his illness and their comforting words during our bereavement. We also thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and donated cars for the funeral. All others who rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

The Beaman Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Charles Ross Luman, departed this life, 2 years ago Aug. 4.

Keep him Jesus in thy keeping
'Til I reach that Heavenly shore,
Then Oh Master let me have him.
To love and keep as before.

Sadly missed by his wife Bruce Margaret Luman

Cards Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so thoughtful and kind during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, C. Fred Beaman. We especially thank the ministers who visited our father during his illness and their comforting words during our bereavement. We also thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and donated cars for the funeral. All others who rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful.

The Beaman Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Charles Ross Luman, departed this life, 2 years ago Aug. 4.

Keep him Jesus in thy keeping
'Til I reach that Heavenly shore,
Then Oh Master let me have him,
To love and keep as before.

Sadly missed by his wife Bruce Margaret Luman

Trucker Killed On Turnpike

A young Pennsylvania driver died yesterday of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle collision on the Pennsy Turnpike near the Bedford Interchange.

Victim of the accident was Earl B. Lapp, 20, of RD 3, Lititz, Pa. Attaches at Bedford County Memorial Hospital said the young driver suffered brain damage, a crushed chest and severe lacerations of the body.

State Police said Lapp was operating a tractor-trailer east on the highway and apparently fell asleep at the wheel. His rig crashed into the back of another tractor-trailer being driven by Wilbur M. Pinnell, 49, of Hopedale, Ohio.

The mishap occurred shortly before 2 a. m. some three miles west of the Bedford Interchange. Lapp died at 7:45 a. m., according to investigating officers.

Hearing Set On Street Plan

The Mayor and Council gave notice yesterday of a hearing on a proposal for improving White Oaks Avenue, and also has asked for bids on 2,700 feet of four-inch cast iron pipe for a water main.

The hearing on the proposal to grade, drain, pave, curb, gutter or otherwise improve White Oaks from its intersection with Oldtown Road to the intersection with the Industrial Boulevard, will be held at 10 a. m. August 20 before the Mayor and Council at which time an ordinance will be introduced.

All persons affected will be given an opportunity to be heard, the Mayor and Council said.

Bids on the water pipe will be received until 10 a. m. August 13. Pipe is to be delivered to the Water Department warehouse and the unit bid per lineal foot must include any special accessories required for joints.

Permits Sought To Drill Wells

Pinto Utilities, Inc., which is providing water and sewage facilities for the Bel Air housing development at Triple Lakes has applied for permission to drill three wells for water.

An application has been filed with the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources for permission to drill the wells and take between 70,000 and 80,000 gallons per day. The wells will be 300 feet deep and have a six-inch line.

A hearing on the application will be held August 22 at Johns Hopkins University, where the department maintains an office.

MT. SAVAGE—Mrs. Maude Holsinger, Poplar Street, entertained the GN Card Club of Calla Hill. Five hundred was played and refreshments were served.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Freda McKenzie, Mrs. Bertha Hott and Mrs. Thelma Green. Miss Mary Lemmert was a guest.

Trucker Killed On Turnpike

A young Pennsylvania driver died yesterday of injuries suffered in a two-vehicle collision on the Pennsy Turnpike near the Bedford Interchange.

Victim of the accident was Earl B. Lapp, 20, of RD 3, Lititz, Pa. Attaches at Bedford County Memorial Hospital said the young driver suffered brain damage, a crushed chest and severe lacerations of the body.

State Police said Lapp was operating a tractor-trailer east on the highway and apparently fell asleep at the wheel. His rig crashed into the back of another tractor-trailer being driven by Wilbur M. Pinnell, 49, of Hopedale, Ohio.

The mishap occurred shortly before 2 a. m. some three miles west of the Bedford Interchange. Lapp died at 7:45 a. m., according to investigating officers.

Hearing Set On Street Plan

The Mayor and Council gave notice yesterday of a hearing on a proposal for improving White Oaks Avenue, and also has asked for bids on 2,700 feet of four-inch cast iron pipe for a water main.

The hearing on the proposal to grade, drain, pave, curb, gutter or otherwise improve White Oaks from its intersection with Oldtown Road to the intersection with the Industrial Boulevard, will be held at 10 a. m. August 20 before the Mayor and Council at which time an ordinance will be introduced.

All persons affected will be given an opportunity to be heard, the Mayor and Council said.

Bids on the water pipe will be received until 10 a. m. August 13. Pipe is to be delivered to the Water Department warehouse and the unit bid per lineal foot must include any special accessories required for joints.

Permits Sought To Drill Wells

Pinto Utilities, Inc., which is providing water and sewage facilities for the Bel Air housing development at Triple Lakes has applied for permission to drill three wells for water.

An application has been filed with the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources for permission to drill the wells and take between 70,000 and 80,000 gallons per day. The wells will be 300 feet deep and have a six-inch line.

A hearing on the application will be held August 22 at Johns Hopkins University, where the department maintains an office.

Two Slayers Sentenced To Death

Blackburn, Mefford Get Gas Chamber In Snider Murder

Two men who shot and killed a former Cumberlander while they were robbing a gas station near Baltimore last March were sentenced to death in the gas chamber yesterday.

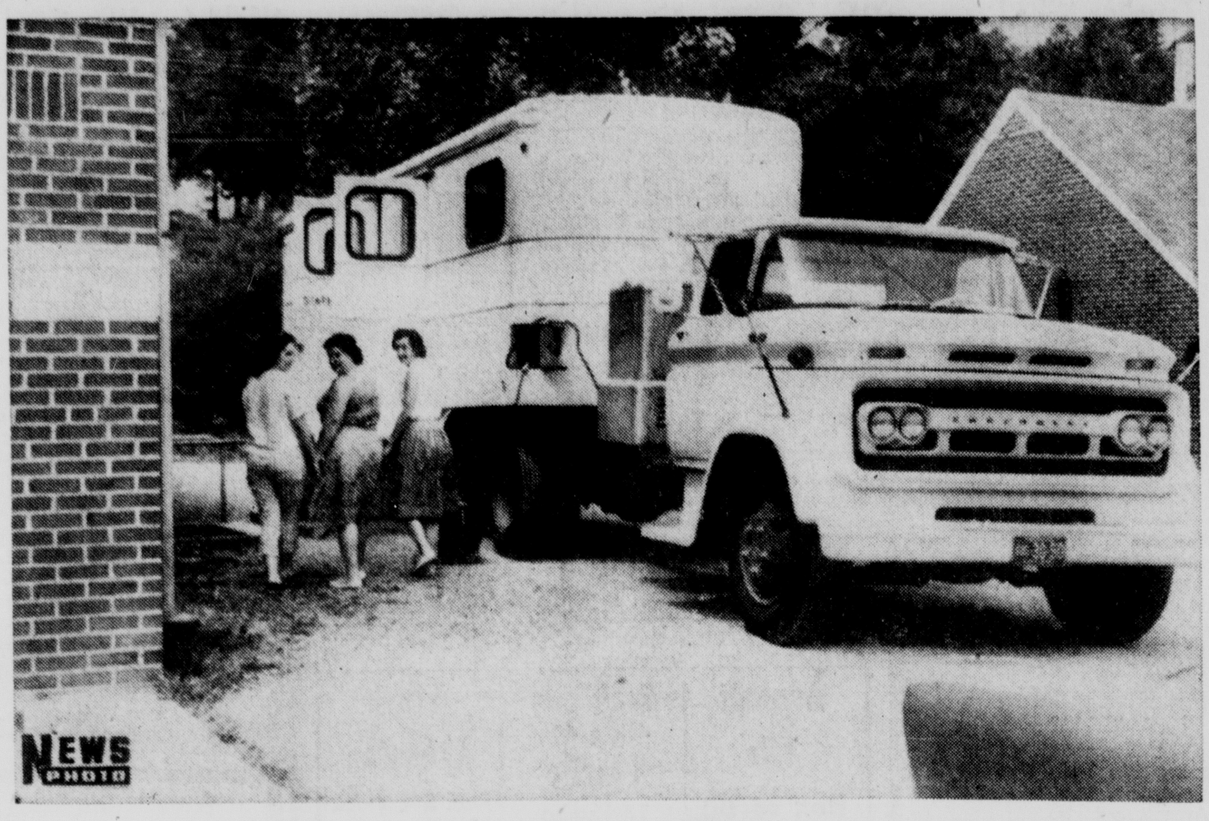

Earl Blackburn and Frederick Mefford, both 28 and both of Baltimore, heard their sentences from Judges Edwin Harland and Steward Day in Harford County Circuit Court at Bel Air.

Their victim, Willis R. Snider, 38, died in a hospital several hours after the holdup last March 4 at a Pulaski Highway service station near Baltimore where he had been working for about a year.

Mr. Snider was alone in the station when two armed men came in and told him to count to 50 while they rifled the cash register.

When he stopped counting and began watching the holdup men, he was shot.

A native of Irons Mountain and a former Williams Road resident, Mr. Snider had worked for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here before going to Baltimore in 1950 to work at the Martin Company plant there. He went to work at the gas station in 1961.

X-Ray Unit Visits Cresaptown

The mobile chest X-ray unit shown above yesterday visited the Cresaptown area and completed the third week of operation in Allegany County. Next week, the unit will be at the Amcelle plant on Monday and at the PPG plant on Tuesday. The remainder of the week it will be stationed at the LaVale Plaza Shopping Center. The visit here is being sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association and the Allegany County Health Department.

Interpretation Of City Vacation Plan Is Issued

Rules To Compute Days Off Cited

The Mayor and Council and department heads of the City of Cumberland yesterday were supplied with copies of an interpretation of rules for the computation of employes' vacation time.

The interpretation was prepared by Hugh A. McMullen, city solicitor, and followed a recent conference on the subject by department heads. The ruling follows:

"Section 58A (1) of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, as enacted by Charter Amendment Resolution No. 16, provides that all employes, after one year of continuous service, shall be entitled to five working days' vacation with pay, and after two years of such service they shall be entitled to 10 working days' vacation with pay, and after three years or more of such service, they are entitled to 15 working days' vacation with pay, annually.

"Section 58A (3) of the Charter Amendment Resolution provides that each department shall adopt a uniform system for computing vacation privileges and this system is to be based on the City's fiscal year. Furthermore, in computing this vacation period from the anniversary date of the employe to the end of the fiscal year following said anniversary date, the vacation privilege is to be computed on the basis of "5/6 days per month."

Cites Problem

"The problem which every department head faces is enforcing Section 58A in the light of Section 58A (3) of the Charter Amendment.

"In order that the Charter Amendment be strictly complied with, it is hereby recommended that in computing an employe's vacation privileges, a department head will compute from the date of employment to the following June 30.

For example: If a new City employe is hired on January 1, 1962, you would compute the period from January 1, 1962, to June 30, 1962, and the employe would be allowed 2½ days' vacation time (2½ days being 5/12 day per month for the six months).

The new employe would be allowed to take the 2½ days' vacation between July 1, 1962, and June 30, 1963.

Then, beginning on July 1, 1962, you would compute the employe's vacation time from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963, and the employe would be earning 10 working days' vacation. This vacation period would be taken from July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1964.

From the period July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1964, the employe would be earning 15 working days' vacation would be taken between the period July 1, 1964, to June 30, 1965.

"It is to be noted that Section 58A (3), as enacted by said Charter Amendment Resolution No. 16, provides that the computation in the first year should be on the basis of "5/6 days per month." It is felt that 5/6 days per month was a typographical error and the department heads should compute the vacation period on the basis of 5/12 of a day per month."

Only a few city workers will be affected by the interpretation which steps up the procedure for computing vacation time.

New Teachers Assigned To Fort Hill, Allegany

Two more teaching assignments have been announced by Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools.

Commission To Study Finances Needs Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the first things a commission to study sharing of taxes between the state and local governments has run into is a need for some money itself.

No finances were provided for the commission named by Gov. Tawes in compliance with a resolution by the 1962 legislature.

The commission decided at its second meeting Thursday night that before embarking on the complex problem it should hire a professional consultant.

John Shriver, commission chairman, was designated to find the expert. When he does, the next step will be to ask Gov. Tawes if he can provide the pay.

If so, the consultant would make a preliminary survey — including whether a research staff should be employed and how much that will cost.

Shriver also guessed the commission may not be able to finish its work by the end of this year as it is directed.

While a review of how much financial aid the state should provide the subdivisions and where to get the money was the prime purpose for the study commission, Shriver said it may lead to weighing the entire government structure.

This would encompass determining whether the state or local government controls the programs. The state now aids many functions that are administered solely by local government.

However, emphasis on the state as a collector of taxes for local operations was foremost in the first batch of proposals submitted to the commission.

Wade H. Insley, Wicomico County commissioner, reported on sentiments among officials in other counties. He said their suggestions included higher income taxes with the counties receiving the additional revenue, a bigger local share of state highway taxes, and collection of more sales taxes by the state solely for a county.

Laurence N. Woodworth, mayor of Cheverly, said municipal officials also were inclined to favor more collecting of taxes by the state for the subdivisions instead of imposing them locally.

Report Meeting On Appalachian Program Slated

Mayor Earl D. Chaney will represent the City of Cumberland at a meeting reporting on the progress on the Conference of Appalachian Governors which will be held August 14 at 1:30 p.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club here.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes will be the keynote speaker and Richard Kraft, a member of the staff of the Area Redevelopment Administration, will speak.

Invitations to the meeting are being extended by Harry A. Boswell Jr., chairman of the Maryland Department of Economic Development.

Mr. Kraft heads the recently created Appalachian desk of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Mr. Boswell said the progress report here will lay the groundwork for the next Appalachian Governors' Conference on August 18, and that suggestions which might be used at this conference will be welcomed.

He said the efforts made by the Appalachian Governors are based on the belief that improvements of the economies of Maryland's three Appalachian counties are linked with the economic development of neighboring counties.

Mayor Chaney was asked to bring with him a list of programs under way or planned which will affect the economic development of the Cumberland area.

One or more city representatives will accompany Mayor Chaney to the conference.

Final Action On Comptroller Slated Monday

The Mayor and Council is expected to take final action on the appointment of a comptroller on Monday.

The applicant for the position spent yesterday morning with Arthur B. Gibson, city financial consultant, and in the afternoon conferred with Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill, Mayor Earl D. Chaney and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery.

It was learned yesterday afternoon that an official announcement on the appointment will be taken at Monday's Council meeting.

Meanwhile, work on the upcoming budget is progressing.

Budget requests were presented to Mr. Gibson yesterday for the Civil Service Commission and Elections and Registration.

Requests for the Police and Fire departments were presented and discussed earlier this week.

Expected early next week is the Street Department budget request.

Submission of the budget is awaiting estimates being prepared by City Engineer C. R. Nuzum on the cost of special projects and for repairs of public buildings.

Mr. Gibson said shaping up of the budget — a reconciliation of requests with expected income — can begin as soon as the Street Department budget is in, since other budgets are mandatory items, such as the cost of pensions, social security and the like.

Dan's Mountain Rec Area Plans Will Be Aired

The Georges Creek Improvement Association is inviting all candidates for the General Assembly and for county commissioner to a meeting next week to discuss the future of Dan's Mountain Recreation Area.

Bernard Cordial, president of the association, said the meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home in Lonaconing.

He said the group is particularly interested in talking with all candidates for House of Delegates, State Senate and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners.

Interested organizations also are invited to send representatives.

Use of $25,000 set aside last spring by Gov. Tawes for improvement of the area will be discussed. The money was provided for emergency work after the improvement association protested plans for eventual abandonment of the 400-acre mountain recreation site near Lonaconing. This had been recommended in a long-range master plan for development of state parks and recreation facilities.

Mr. Cordial said a ballfield and a playground have been planned for the area, and that a road is to be improved. The improvement association wants to have the area designated as a state park and developed accordingly.

County SCS Supervisors Discuss Budget

Budget allocations for Allegany County Soil Conservation District for 1962-63 were discussed at a meeting of district supervisors Thursday at the Court House.

Two new district cooperators were submitted for approval of the supervisors. They are Valley View Angus farm, managed by Antone Struntz, 648 acres along the Potomac River above Oldtown, and James T. Three basic plans have been recently developed for Howard Taylor, Oldtown, 103 acres; Samuel J. Weiss, Green Ridge, 122 acres and W. E. O'Hara, Oldtown, 42 acres.

Kenneth Stone, county soil scientist, has been soil surveying in Garrett County and has spent some time checking soil descriptions in connection with woodland soil site index study along with M. F. Hershberger, State Soil scientist.

Plans for next month include complete basic plans for three cooperators and assisting Game and Inland Fish Commission with soil investigation for a community pond at Dawson.

Also discussed were two meetings for work unit conservationists, a biology training session in Frederick, and a research needs meeting at Franklin, W. Va.

Attending the meeting were Wilbert R. Paugh, Mt. Savage, chairman; Charles S. Harvey, Frostburg; Ernest R. Slider, Oldtown; Floyd Buser, Warrier Mountain; Joseph Steger, County Agent and secretary; Martin M. Gordon, Cumberland, and John Hull, SCS trainee.

Frostburg Will Light-Surface Streets Today

Street Commissioner William Preston of Frostburg last night said work will be started this morning to light-surface several streets with a special paving process.

Mr. Preston said the process will cause the streets to be tacky or sticky for a 24-hour period and advised motorists and especially children to remain off the streets which will be paved.

The work will be done by the Keystone Lime Company of Springs, Pa., and will involve a new-type of process. Mr. Preston said if tomorrow's paving proves successful, a number of other streets will be covered with the new process.

Work will begin at 9:30 a.m. and workmen of the Frostburg Street Department will block off the streets which will be paved.

Mr. Preston said the town had received a number of complaints recently about the dusty condition of a number of streets and alleys and this new paving process is expected to control the situation for at least six months.

Mr. Preston added parents should warn their children about the sticky condition of the newly-paved streets so the asphalt and chemicals will not be tracked into homes.

Two Slayers Sentenced To Death

Blackburn, Mefford Get Gas Chamber In Snider Murder

Two men who shot and killed a former Cumberlander while they were robbing a gas station near Baltimore last March were sentenced to death in the gas chamber yesterday.

Earl Blackburn and Frederick Mefford, both 28 and both of Baltimore, heard their sentences from Judges Edwin Harland and Steward Day in Harford County Circuit Court at Bel Air.

Their victim, Willis R. Snider, 38, died in a hospital several hours after the holdup last March 4 at a Pulaski Highway service station near Baltimore where he had been working for about a year.

Mr. Snider was alone in the station when two armed men came in and told him to count to 50 while they rifled the cash register.

When he stopped counting and began watching the holdup men, he was shot.

A native of Irons Mountain and a former Williams Road resident, Mr. Snider had worked for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here before going to Baltimore in 1950 to work at the Martin Company plant there. He went to work at the gas station in 1961.

Interpretation Of City Vacation Plan Is Issued

Rules To Compute Days Off Cited

The Mayor and Council and department heads of the City of Cumberland yesterday were supplied with copies of an interpretation of rules for the computation of employes' vacation time.

The interpretation was prepared by Hugh A. McMullen, city solicitor, and followed a recent conference on the subject by department heads. The ruling follows:

"Section 58A (1) of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, as enacted by Charter Amendment Resolution No. 16, provides that all employes, after one year of continuous service, shall be entitled to five working days' vacation with pay, and after two years of such service they shall be entitled to 10 working days' vacation with pay, and after three years or more of such service, they are entitled to 15 working days' vacation with pay, annually.

"Section 58A (3) of the Charter Amendment Resolution provides that each department shall adopt a uniform system for computing vacation privileges and this system is to be based on the City's fiscal year. Furthermore, in computing this vacation period from the anniversary date of the employe to the end of the fiscal year following said anniversary date, the vacation privilege is to be computed on the basis of "5/6 days per month."

Cites Problem

"The problem which every department head faces is enforcing Section 58A in the light of Section 58A (3) of the Charter Amendment.

"In order that the Charter Amendment be strictly complied with, it is hereby recommended that in computing an employe's vacation privileges, a department head will compute from the date of employment to the following June 30.

For example: If a new City employe is hired on January 1, 1962, you would compute the period from January 1, 1962, to June 30, 1962, and the employe would be allowed 2½ days' vacation time (2½ days being 5/12 day per month for the six months).

The new employe would be allowed to take the 2½ days' vacation between July 1, 1962, and June 30, 1963.

Then, beginning on July 1, 1962, you would compute the employe's vacation time from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963, and the employe would be earning 10 working days' vacation. This vacation period would be taken from July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1964.

From the period July 1, 1963, to June 30, 1964, the employe would be earning 15 working days' vacation would be taken between the period July 1, 1964, to June 30, 1965.

"It is to be noted that Section 58A (3), as enacted by said Charter Amendment Resolution No. 16, provides that the computation in the first year should be on the basis of "5/6 days per month." It is felt that 5/6 days per month was a typographical error and the department heads should compute the vacation period on the basis of 5/12 of a day per month."

Only a few city workers will be affected by the interpretation which steps up the procedure for computing vacation time.

Commission To Study Finances Needs Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — One of the first things a commission to study sharing of taxes between the state and local governments has run into is a need for some money itself.

No finances were provided for the commission named by Gov. Tawes in compliance with a resolution by the 1962 legislature.

The commission decided at its second meeting Thursday night that before embarking on the complex problem it should hire a professional consultant.

John Shriver, commission chairman, was designated to find the expert. When he does, the next step will be to ask Gov. Tawes if he can provide the pay.

If so, the consultant would make a preliminary survey — including whether a research staff should be employed and how much that will cost.

Shriver also guessed the commission may not be able to finish its work by the end of this year as it is directed.

While a review of how much financial aid the state should provide the subdivisions and where to get the money was the prime purpose for the study commission, Shriver said it may lead to weighing the entire government structure.

This would encompass determining whether the state or local government controls the programs. The state now aids many functions that are administered solely by local government.

However, emphasis on the state as a collector of taxes for local operations was foremost in the first batch of proposals submitted to the commission.

Wade H. Insley, Wicomico County commissioner, reported on sentiments among officials in other counties. He said their suggestions included higher income taxes with the counties receiving the additional revenue, a bigger local share of state highway taxes, and collection of more sales taxes by the state solely for a county.

Laurence N. Woodworth, mayor of Cheverly, said municipal officials also were inclined to favor more collecting of taxes by the state for the subdivisions instead of imposing them locally.

Report Meeting On Appalachian Program Slated

Mayor Earl D. Chaney will represent the City of Cumberland at a meeting reporting on the progress on the Conference of Appalachian Governors which will be held August 14 at 1:30 p.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club here.

Gov. J. Millard Tawes will be the keynote speaker and Richard Kraft, a member of the staff of the Area Redevelopment Administration, will speak.

Invitations to the meeting are being extended by Harry A. Boswell Jr., chairman of the Maryland Department of Economic Development.

Mr. Kraft heads the recently created Appalachian desk of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Mr. Boswell said the progress report here will lay the groundwork for the next Appalachian Governors' Conference on August 18, and that suggestions which might be used at this conference will be welcomed.

He said the efforts made by the Appalachian Governors are based on the belief that improvements of the economies of Maryland's three Appalachian counties are linked with the economic development of neighboring counties.

Mayor Chaney was asked to bring with him a list of programs under way or planned which will affect the economic development of the Cumberland area.

One or more city representatives will accompany Mayor Chaney to the conference.

Final Action On Comptroller Slated Monday

It was learned yesterday afternoon that an official announcement on the appointment will be taken at Monday's Council meeting.

Meanwhile, work on the upcoming budget is progressing.

Budget requests were presented to Mr. Gibson yesterday for the Civil Service Commission and Elections and Registration.

Fans And Co-Workers Often Seek Marjorie Lord's Advice

If she ever gets tired of acting—a highly unlikely happening—Marjorie Lord can remove her stage, makeup, sharpen a few pencils, sit down at a typewriter and begin a second career.

The flame-haired female star of the CBS-TV "The Danny Thomas Show" could, without any difficulty, join the imposing ranks of those enterprising women who offer beauty suggestions, advice to the lovelorn and etiquette tips to the millions who begin their letters with "I have a problem."

Miss Lord has discovered that during the time she has been playing Danny Thomas' television wife on the popular comedy series due back in the fall, she has become a consultant, advisor and mother confessor to scores of fans as well as her fellow workers.

Producer Sheldon Leonard ads, "The suggestion 'Why don't you ask Marjorie?' is heard on the set more times than 'cut' or 'places please'."

When she is not graciously playing "Dear Abby" or "Emily Post" to a co-worker, Miss Lord spends her time answering what must be the most unusual fan mail in the entertainment business.

"Most letters begin with the person telling me they liked the show or something I said or did," she smiles. "Then half way down the page they start a sentence with 'I wonder if you can help me with this problem I have' and then go on and explain their difficulty."

Miss Lord, who has lost count of the letters of this type she has received, answers them all personally. They range, she adds, from being very amusing to the pathetic. She wonders why she has been selected by thousands of people she has never seen to divulge their problems to and seek advice.

Danny Thomas thinks he has the answer.

"Marjorie's a warm, witty person as my 'wife' in the show and in her own life. She's a kind, thoughtful lady—and I stress that word. She knows kids because she has two of her own at home and two in the show. She's as happy eating a box lunch back stage or being the hostess at a black tie dinner for 12. She gets a kick out of life, but knows what those big black headlines mean. She's a woman with responsibilities to others . . . and she lives up to them."

On the show, Miss Lord as "Kathy Williams," is the video mother to Rusty Hamer and Angela Cartwright. In real life, as Mrs. Randolph Hale, her offspring are two teenagers, Greg and Ann. She finds there is very little difference between the four youngsters.

"Teenagers are pretty much all the same," she believes. "I don't care where they live or if they are rich or poor."

"I am above all things an actress," she states. "That means, I guess, I will appear before the public in any medium for money. It sounds simple but winds up complicated. Acting is a lot harder than it looks."

Fans And Co-Workers Often Seek Marjorie Lord's Advice

If she ever gets tired of acting—a highly unlikely happening—Marjorie Lord can remove her stage, makeup, sharpen a few pencils, sit down at a typewriter and begin a second career.

The flame-haired female star of the CBS-TV "The Danny Thomas Show" could, without any difficulty, join the imposing ranks of those enterprising women who offer beauty suggestions, advice to the lovelorn and etiquette tips to the millions who begin their letters with "I have a problem."

Miss Lord has discovered that during the time she has been playing Danny Thomas' television wife on the popular comedy series due back in the fall, she has become a consultant, advisor and mother confessor to scores of fans as well as her fellow workers.

Producer Sheldon Leonard ads, "The suggestion 'Why don't you ask Marjorie?' is heard on the set more times than 'cut' or 'places please'."

When she is not graciously playing "Dear Abby" or "Emily Post" to a co-worker, Miss Lord spends her time answering what must be the most unusual fan mail in the entertainment business.

"Most letters begin with the person telling me they liked the show or something I said or did," she smiles. "Then half way down the page they start a sentence with 'I wonder if you can help me with this problem I have' and then go on and explain their difficulty."

Miss Lord, who has lost count of the letters of this type she has received, answers them all personally. They range, she adds, from being very amusing to the pathetic. She wonders why she has been selected by thousands of people she has never seen to divulge their problems to and seek advice.

Danny Thomas thinks he has the answer.

"Marjorie's a warm, witty person as my 'wife' in the show and in her own life. She's a kind, thoughtful lady—and I stress that word. She knows kids because she has two of her own at home and two in the show. She's as happy eating a box lunch back stage or being the hostess at a black tie dinner for 12. She gets a kick out of life, but knows what those big black headlines mean. She's a woman with responsibilities to others . . . and she lives up to them."

On the show, Miss Lord as "Kathy Williams," is the video mother to Rusty Hamer and Angela Cartwright. In real life, as Mrs. Randolph Hale, her offspring are two teenagers, Greg and Ann. She finds there is very little difference between the four youngsters.

"Teenagers are pretty much all the same," she believes. "I don't care where they live or if they are rich or poor."

"I am above all things an actress," she states. "That means, I guess, I will appear before the public in any medium for money. It sounds simple but winds up complicated. Acting is a lot harder than it looks."

Garry Moore Has No Sponsor Worry For Fall

A cheese company has bought full sponsorship of the Garry Moore Hour for beaming on the Canadian Broadcasting System weekly. Garry is currently vacationing and his Tuesday night time of CBS-TV is being filled by "Talent Scouts" with Jim Backus.

When the crew-cut comedian returns to TV he won't have to work at breakneck speed. Producer Bob Banner had two fall shows taped before Garry departed.

Jack Benny's Gertrude Lands Role

When "Beverly Hillbillies" makes its debut this fall viewers will come across a familiar personality. She is Bea Benaderet, currently heard as the voice of Betty Rubble in "The Flintstones."

Doing comedy is an old story to Bea whose finesse in handling oddball roles and laugh lines has won her jobs with practically every big name in the business.

In the old radio days Jack Benny used Bea as Gertrude Gearshift, a mixed-up Brooklyn telephone operator. She also worked regularly in such vehicles as "My Friend Irma," "The Great Gildersleeve" and "Fibber McGee and Molly."

Abby Dalton Inks Joey Bishop Pact

Abby Dalton has been signed to co-star in "The Joey Bishop Show," which will be broadcast in color when it returns to the NBC-TV Network for its second season in a new time period, beginning Saturday, September 15 (8:30-9 p. m. NYT).

Miss Dalton, who will portray the wife of Joey Barnes (a TV comedian played by Bishop), for the last three seasons had appeared in the role of the witty Navy nurse in TV's "Hennesey" series. She was selected for her new role over an impressive list of applicants.

Hungarian Guess For 'Seven Keys'

"Seven Keys" producer Bill Carruthers' eyes popped when he saw the postmark on a letter containing a guess as to which of seven keys would unlock the door to the grand prize on the daytime game show.

Komarom, Hungary, as far as Bill knows, is outside the normal telecasting range of ABC-TV.

Carruthers had to disqualify the champion long-distance entry. It was submitted by letter instead of the specified postcard.

Irene Ryan, who will be Granny in "The Beverly Hillbillies" coming to CBS-TV this fall, asserts that Eve was the unluckiest woman who ever lived; she couldn't tell Adam about the better men she could have married!

Garry Moore Has No Sponsor Worry For Fall

A cheese company has bought full sponsorship of the Garry Moore Hour for beaming on the Canadian Broadcasting System weekly. Garry is currently vacationing and his Tuesday night time of CBS-TV is being filled by "Talent Scouts" with Jim Backus.

When the crew-cut comedian returns to TV he won't have to work at breakneck speed. Producer Bob Banner had two fall shows taped before Garry departed.

Jack Benny's Gertrude Lands Role

When "Beverly Hillbillies" makes its debut this fall viewers will come across a familiar personality. She is Bea Benaderet, currently heard as the voice of Betty Rubble in "The Flintstones."

Doing comedy is an old story to Bea whose finesse in handling oddball roles and laugh lines has won her jobs with practically every big name in the business.

In the old radio days Jack Benny used Bea as Gertrude Gearshift, a mixed-up Brooklyn telephone operator. She also worked regularly in such vehicles as "My Friend Irma," "The Great Gildersleeve" and "Fibber McGee and Molly."

Abby Dalton Inks Joey Bishop Pact

Abby Dalton has been signed to co-star in "The Joey Bishop Show," which will be broadcast in color when it returns to the NBC-TV Network for its second season in a new time period, beginning Saturday, September 15 (8:30-9 p. m. NYT).

Miss Dalton, who will portray the wife of Joey Barnes (a TV comedian played by Bishop), for the last three seasons had appeared in the role of the witty Navy nurse in TV's "Hennesey" series. She was selected for her new role over an impressive list of applicants.

Hungarian Guess For 'Seven Keys'

"Seven Keys" producer Bill Carruthers' eyes popped when he saw the postmark on a letter containing a guess as to which of seven keys would unlock the door to the grand prize on the daytime game show.

Komarom, Hungary, as far as Bill knows, is outside the normal telecasting range of ABC-TV.

Carruthers had to disqualify the champion long-distance entry. It was submitted by letter instead of the specified postcard.

Irene Ryan, who will be Granny in "The Beverly Hillbillies" coming to CBS-TV this fall, asserts that Eve was the unluckiest woman who ever lived; she couldn't tell Adam about the better men she could have married!

Waiting For Star

"McHale's Men," a lusty comedy series scheduled for ABC-TV this fall with Ernest Borgnine as star, starts production as soon as Borgnine recuperates from the flu bug.

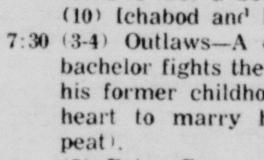

'Beaver' Star Has Money But He's No Playboy

Although Tony Dow's income exceeds that of the average young man his age, it doesn't follow that he leads the social life of a playboy. Far from it.

In fact, the 17-year-old star of ABC-TV's "Leave It To Beaver" doesn't even own a car.

When Tony needs wheels to take a girl friend on a date, he, like many of his fans, must ask his parents' permission to use the family car. Tony's mother and father won't let him have his own car until he's 18.

A psychiatrist friend of Sing Along's Mitch Miller said his business is to cure the obscure!

Waiting For Star

"McHale's Men," a lusty comedy series scheduled for ABC-TV this fall with Ernest Borgnine as star, starts production as soon as Borgnine recuperates from the flu bug.

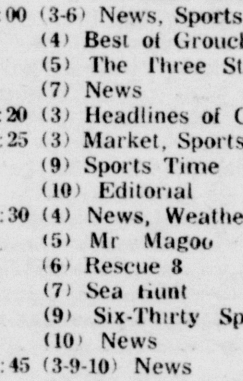

'Beaver' Star Has Money But He's No Playboy

Although Tony Dow's income exceeds that of the average young man his age, it doesn't follow that he leads the social life of a playboy. Far from it.

In fact, the 17-year-old star of ABC-TV's "Leave It To Beaver" doesn't even own a car.

When Tony needs wheels to take a girl friend on a date, he, like many of his fans, must ask his parents' permission to use the family car. Tony's mother and father won't let him have his own car until he's 18.

A psychiatrist friend of Sing Along's Mitch Miller said his business is to cure the obscure!
